DEATHS.

On the 24th August, on board the Sarah Pile, on her passage from Levuka to Sydney, THOMAS BRECKENRIDGE, aged 36 years; born at Dalrymple, Ayrshire, Scotland. The deceased was brother to John W. M'Gill, of Albion Park; fifth son of Mr. John Breckenridge and Marion Cassilis, both of Lanarkshire, Scotland. He was for a number of years a resident at Araluen, and afterwards went to Levuka, where he continued his business of gunsmith and blacksmith for several years. During his residence in both places he won the esteem of the whole community by his extremely affable and obliging disposition. His health, however, failed him at the Fijis, and he deemed it prudent to remove from a tropical climate to Sydney, and took his passage in the Sarah Pile, schooner, which left Levuka for Sydney on the 19th of August. He had only, however, been but a few days at sea when he was seized with a severe attack of dysentery, from which he never rallied. His already weakened condition not being able to withstand it, he expired on the morning of the 24th August. Deceased leaves behind him numerous friends, relations, and Masonic brethren to mourn their loss. Colonial and home papers please copy.

NOTICE TO OFFICERS of the Army and Navy on Retired or Half-pay; to WIDOWS of Officers; to Chelsea, Greenwich, Irish CONSTABULARY, and other PENSIONERS of her Majesty's Imperial Government, residing in the colony of New South Wales.

Pensions or Allowances due to the above persons will, from and after the 1st of October next ensuing, be paid by the Colonial Treasurer, under an arrangement with the Government of New South Wales, instead of as heretofore by the Staff Paymaster.

The Honorable the Treasurer, however, retains the services of Mr. GEORGE EVANS LABERTOUCHE, as clerk in charge of the detail duties connected with payments, and all applications either by letter or in person will be made to that gentleman, at the Pension Office, Lower George-street, Sydney (the one which has been for many years known as the Commissariat).

The Staff Paymaster, in notifying this change to the pensioners generally, urges upon them the desirability of their making early application in October next for the amounts due to them.

In every case it will be necessary for them to produce their pension certificates, or other authorities, under which they are empowered to draw their pensions.

This Company is formed for the purpose of working a 10-acre lease on the Little River Gold-fields, near Braidwood; the ground was profitably worked in the year 1869 by a party of miners who, in consequence of the heavy floods in that year, were compelled to abandon their work. The results of the several crushings from the reef is subjoined, and, in addition to these crushings, some extraordinary returns were obtained from quarts crushed by hand, the correctness of which is verified by the bank agent's certificate, and copy of Mint return received from the Deputy Master of the Mint.

Hitherto the success of mining enterprise in this lease has been arrested by the want of capital amongst the claimholders, who in no instance have been able to carry their sinkings to a depth sufficient to fairly test the real richness of the reef.

Of the richness of the reef on this ground, the following returns from the crushing mills, and letter from bank agent leave no room for doubt.

"I hereby certify that I have crushed 138 tons of quarts from the Homeward Bound Reef, which yielded 138 oz. 6 dwts. of gold.

(Signed) "E. FRANCIS."

"To Messrs. Hassall, Maddrell, Gentle, Payne, and Tweedie.

"Dear Sirs,—In reply to your inquiries, I have to inform you that a parcel of gold, weighing 333 oz., was received from Messrs. Wigginge and party, of the Homeward Bound Reef, on 21st September, 1869. This gold was crushed from about 80 lbs. weight of quartz with an ordinary pestle and mortar. Some bags of quartz, weighing 5 cwt., were taken to the Mint by Wigginge and party, from which £812 14s. 2d. worth of gold was extracted. Several other large parcels of gold from this line of reef were taken to Sydney previously, of which I have no record.

"I am, yours faithfully,
"H. P. WILSON, agent."

"Royal Mint, Sydney, 9th November, 1869.

"Memorandum of the particulars of a purchase of gold bullion from J. Wigginge and Co., viz.:—Date of deposit in Mint, 3rd November, 1869. Standard weight 833·988 oz. Value, £833 4s 4d. Net value, after deducting Mint charges, &c., £812 14s 2d."

It is now proposed to sink a main shaft 200 feet; when this depth is reached cross drives will be put in to cut the reef. To complete this work and carry on the working of the mine, not more than £1600 will be required.

Applications for shares to be forwarded to Messrs. ROBERT MADDRELL, R. HASSALL, P. H. GENTLE, C. B. PAYNE, and G. TWEEDIE; or to Messrs. SMYTH and PEEBLES, Sydney.

THE LOUISA GOLD MINING COMPANY (Limited.)
10-acre Lease,
TUCKER'S HILL, HARGRAVES.

Capital—£10,000, in Shares of £1 each.

6000 shares are offered to the public on the following easy terms:—1s per share on application, 2s per share on allotment, and 1s per share on issue of scrip, after which the balance shall be payable (as required) in calls not to exceed 6d per share monthly.

4000 Shares fully paid-up, and £600 in cash will be reserved by the present proprietors, out of which will be defrayed all expenses up to the Company being declared formed.

This company is formed for the purpose of working a 10-acre Lease, situate at Tucker's Hill, Hargraves, adjoining the celebrated Golden Haul and Band of Hope claims on the south; on the west is the machine of the Band of Hope Company; and on the east, Kronin and Co.'s claim. Several gold-bearing reefs have been cut in the adjoining claims on the same line, and which can be traced through this lease. Its position is second to none on the hill. A trial crushing from the adjoining lease gave 5 oz. 10 dwts. to the ton. It is proposed to carry on work by a tunnel to cut the reef at a distance of 90 feet. A splendid crushing plant with 20 head of stamp is in course of erection within 250 yards of the mouth of the tunnel, and to which the stone can be run at a very reasonable rate. The working capital of the Company (£600) will be ample to work the ground, and it is anticipated that no more will be called up before the claim will be in a position to pay dividends.

As a great number of the shares are already subscribed for, and the number being limited, an early application is requested, as such a favourable opportunity to get an interest in a rich claim on the Marco upon such reasonable terms is not likely to occur again.

This Company has been formed to work some of the richest tin-mining land yet discovered in the neighbourhood of Inverell.

The property consists of 100 acres of land, leased from the Government under the mineral conditions, and situated in the centre of the Newstead Tin Mining Company's land, and adjoining the Karaula Tin Mine, which was lately floated for £45,000.

The quality of this mine will be shown in the fact that four men, with very rude appliances, have in a short space of time raised 7 tons of tin ore, part of which is in Sydney, and will be sold on account of the shareholders in this Company.

The tin produced has yielded by competent assay 74 per cent., and is allowed to be amongst the best tin ore produced in the Inverell district.

Very rich indications of tin-bearing stone and tin in cement have been found on the mine, and large specimens can be seen at the Exchange, Sydney.

The original proprietors having secured this land in the early stage of the mining, and proved its value by the result produced, claim 12,500 fully paid-up shares and £1000 in cash, for which they will make over the estate to trustees, and give up the tin already raised, which will enable the Company to pay a dividend shortly after it is formed.

Dividends will be paid on all shares alike, and a clause in the deed gives every shareholder the power to abandon his shares after he has paid the first 5s, if he is not anxious to proceed further.

When applications are in for two-thirds of the shares, a meeting of the shareholders will be called to approve the deed and appoint directors.

The Newstead Mine is so well known, that the directors feel no other recommendation is necessary than the fact that this land is in the very centre of the Newstead property.

Applications will be received in the form annexed, and the list will be closed at an early date.

FORM OF APPLICATION.
"Byron-Newstead" Tin Mining Company (Limited).
Sydney, July, 1872.

To Mr. W. H. Barraclough, Secretary, 363, George-street.
Sir,—I beg herewith to apply for Shares in the "Byron-Newstead" Tin Mining Company (limited), and enclose a deposit of 1s per share, and will pay the balance as required, and sign the Deed when called upon.

SOFALA SLUICING COMPANY (Limited).

Capital £8000, in 8000 Shares of £1 each.

4000 shares and £550 cash are reserved by the present proprietors, 4000 shares paid-up to 10s offered to the public, payable 1s on application, 2s on allotment, and the balance as far as required in 6d calls.

The property of this Company consists of a 5-acre lease of alluvial land, on the Turon River above Sofala, together with a reservoir and splendid water race 5 miles in length, having the first right to the waters of Tobin's Oakey Creek, M'Kinnon's Oakey Creek, and Spring Creek, and carrying four ground sluice heads of water.

This race, having been brought from so great a distance, has secured a considerable elevation, which would enable it to be used in sluicing over forty acres of alluvial land, besides the lease held by this company; while but a little additional expenditure would take it to other alluvial banks lower down the river, which it would command at still greater elevation. It was commenced by the proprietors in July, 1870, and has only recently been completed.

The alluvial flats on the Turon, it is well known, were of enormous richness; the richest deposits were generally found in the bed rock, under large bodies of drift containing gold, but not in sufficient quantities to pay for working by the ordinary methods, but which by hydraulic power would pay splendidly.

The terms upon which this enterprise is placed in the market are as under:—

That as soon as the Subscription List is full, a meeting of the subscribers shall be called, and a competent person selected by them to inspect the property. Should his report be favourable, the Company will be declared formed, and the allotment of Shares made, and directors appointed; if otherwise, the deposits, less the expenses of inspection, will be returned.

Application for shares to be made to
LITTLE and PILE,
62, Margaret-street.

The Manager in charge has just reported the results of last month's operations. Three men only were employed and produced 30 ounces of gold. The ground is now in first-class order for operations.

PROSPECTUS of the TRUE BRITON TIN MINING COMPANY (Limited).

180 ACRES of the Richest TIN DEPOSIT, on the Ponds, Middle Creek, Inverell.

Capital, £8000, in 16,000 Shares of 10s each.

2s 6d per share payable on application, 2s 6d on allotment, and the balance in calls of 1s per share monthly.

Out of the calls £1000 will be placed to the credit of the Company for working expenses.
Dividends on all shares alike.

The Proprietors will subscribe for 8000 shares themselves.

This Company is being formed for the purpose of purchasing and working two selections, comprising 180 acres of the richest Tin deposit in the far-famed district of Inverell.

The land is situated on the Ponds Creek, one of the branches of Middle Creek, about a quarter of a mile above the Modern Britons, with the creek, which is unfailing, running through the centre of the blocks, and consists principally of made ground, with a large depth of washdirt.

Prospects have been taken from various portions of the ground as high as 4 lbs. to the dish, while three men have washed out 4½ buckets of tin ore in a day, a large sample of which is now on view at the office, 10, Barrack-street.

The ore has been assayed, yielding 76 per cent. of pure tin, and a bar or ingot of tin smelted at Partridge's is also on view.

Preliminary operations have been commenced; a substantial hut for the men erected, races cut, the ground opened in several places, and a considerable quantity of tin ore obtained, so that it is not a matter of pure speculation, but a thoroughly tested and proved undertaking, and one in which the undersigned, from his knowledge of the character and respectability of the original owner, can with confidence recommend to the public as presenting all the elements of a great success; while it may be safely asserted that no tin company has yet been placed before the public with the same extent and richness of ground for anything like so small a capital.

As there are only £4060 worth of shares for sale, immediate application will be necessary.

All applications MUST be accompanied by the deposit, and first applicants will have the preference.

The property of this Company consists of 160 acres of the finest and richest land in this district, with an extensive frontage to both sides of the celebrated Quart Pot Creek. This land has been early selected and known as that joining Allford's selection, from which ground they are producing 1½ ton per diem. Mr. M. A. Douglas, late manager of the Lady Normanby Tin Mining Company, has made a careful survey of the land, whose report will be found attached to this prospectus.

The sum of £1000 will be placed to the credit of this Company, and will be more than sufficient to furnish all the plant necessary for working this valuable property economically.

An experienced manager will, as soon as the Company is formed, be placed in charge of the works; and the proprietors are fully convinced the Company will pay early and constant dividends.

A plan of the property, together with further particulars, showing the large water frontage to the Quart Pot Creek, is now on view at the Brokers' Office.

The proprietors have no hesitation in saying the land is so rich that no further capital will be required than the £1000 placed to the credit of the Company in the first instance. A simple return of one ton of ore per week would give the subscribers 25 per cent. per annum; but 7 tons per week can with ease be obtained, giving the shareholders over 150 per cent. for their capital.

Samples of tin ore are at the brokers, giving an assay of 75 per cent. of pure tin.—(See Mr. Watt's certificate annexed).

Cost of raising and shipping the tin to London will be under £25 per ton.

REPORT
upon Mineral Selections, Nos. 389 and 393, on the Quart Pot Creek, comprising 160 acres:—

"Stanthorpe, 3rd August, 1872.

"Sir,—I forward herein report of the nature and testing of your selections, Nos. 389 and 393, on Quart Pot Creek. I have sent a sample down by train, which was raised by one of my men in about two hours; I also tested the banks of the creek, and got first-class prospects—from 2 oz. to 5lb. the dish. All the land will pay first-class to sluice. We could not get deeper than 4 feet, owing to the water coming in; but I am certain, when you get to the wash-dirt, you will at least get 4 lbs. to the dish. In the selection above Alford and Co. they are getting 30 cwt. a day, and your selections are quite as good. The creek is about a chain and a half wide. In one waterhole about 3 lbs. to the dish was got, and I am confident that there must be an immense deposit of ore in the bed of the creek.

"The Commissioner (Mr. Gregory) told me the whole of the creek was first-class, and would pay to work privately; in fact, I agree with him that more money could be made by adopting this course with your selections.

"I am, Sir, yours truly,
"M. A. DOUGLAS,
"late Manager Lady Normanby Tin Mining Company."

CERTIFICATE OF ASSAY.
"August 17, 1872.

"Messrs. Westgarth and Son.

"Gentlemen,—The sample of tin ore received from you in a bag, marked 'R & Co.,' yielded tin—75 per cent. In reply to your question respecting the ore, you will perceive by the assay that it is of excellent quality.

"Yours faithfully,
"CHAS. WATT."

This valuable property consists of a 5-acre lease, taken up under the old regulations, thus giving a base line equal to TEN ACRES under the present regulations.

The lease is situated on the eastern slope of Hawkins Hill proper and close to Deep Creek, and is bounded on the north by the Coo-e-Coo-e; on the south by the Trafalgar, the Cornucopia, and Age of Progress, being almost immediately on the western boundary; the St. Mary's lease being on the eastern boundary. This latter lease is now in the market for £20,000. The Cornucopia and Age of Progress have each been successfully floated, and are both engaged putting down shafts, with promising prospects. The prospects of this Company may be said to be SECOND TO NONE not actually on gold—a gold-bearing vein, six inches in width, having been cut at a depth of 26 feet, which has been passed through to cut a vein of a greater width, which will most probably be cut at a depth of about 100 feet. Within a few feet of this last-mentioned vein there is another likely-looking one, while all the veins in the Age of Progress will be cut at no great depth by sinking on the western boundary of this lease.

A shaft has been sunk to a depth of 45 feet, and men are employed night and day in sinking it to a greater depth.

The WHOLE OF THE SUBSCRIBED CAPITAL will go to develope the mine, as the original proprietors receive no cash consideration, but prefer retaining their interest in the mine.

There is a first-class road now in course of formation from the mine to the crushing-machine at the Turon, which is distant about half a-mile.

The following report on the lease is from the well-known firm of Cowdery, Brothers, C.E.s. Plan of the ground and all other information can be had from either of the brokers.

"Hill End, August 27, 1872.

"To the Proprietors of the 'England's Glory' Lease.

"Gentlemen,—At your request we have surveyed your lease, and now beg to hand you plan of same, with the following descriptive report:—

"Your property is a five-acre lease, and is situated on the eastern side of Hawkins Hill, bounded on the north by the 'Coo-e-Coo-e' Gold Mining Company's property; on the south by the 'Trafalgar,' east by the 'St. Mary's,' and on the west by the 'Empire.'

"There are four (4) fine reefs running with an easterly underlay through your lease, varying in thickness from six (6) inches to ten (10) inches, two of which have been proved to carry gold.

"There is a good shaft being sunk, now down some forty-four (44) feet, having passed a reef at about twenty-six (26) feet, showing good indications, and expected to strike another reef at a further depth of forty (40) feet.

"We may state that there is a crushing-machine to be erected close to your property, a tramway to which will run through it. This will give you a cheap means of carting the quartz, which fact must materially add to the value of your property.

"The indications in this neighbourhood are so good, that we have no hesitation in saying that this will prove a first-class mining speculation.

"We have the honour to be,
"Yours respectfully,
"COWDERY, BROTHERS, C.E."

SECRETARY:
Mr. W. H. Barraclough, 363, George-street, Sydney.

This Company is formed for the purpose of purchasing and working the valuable coal mine on Anvil Creek, so well and favourably known as the Anvil Creek Colliery.

The property consists of 605 acres of land on the Great Northern Railway, about twelve miles from Maitland, the railway running past the estate.

The coal is of very superior quality either for gas, steam, or house purposes, as will be seen by the certificates attached—it produces more gas than any Newcastle coal and is worth 2s per ton more in all the colonial markets.

The mine is in good working operation, having been opened about two years since, and only wants a moderate expenditure of capital in rolling stock to make it one of the most profitable in the colony; it can be worked either by a shaft or tunnel at as low a cost as the Bulli Company are now working, and will produce similar satisfactory results.

Mr. Winship, the Colliery Manager of the A. A. Company, was sent up in April last to examine and value the property, and his report and valuation will be found attached. The documents are so clear and self-evident that they will speak for themselves; at the late depressed state of the coal trade the estimated value was £15,742 14s. 6d., but now that the price has risen to 9s per ton, Mr. Winship's valuation would be, as he states, 3d per ton on the coal and 25 per cent. on the plant, amounting in all to £34,253 3s 1d.

The terms on which it can be obtained are, £5000 in cash, spread over 12 months, and 15,000 fully paid-up shares, thus showing that the proprietor has sufficient confidence in the success of the Company to leave the largest amount of his capital in it.

The present increased price of coals is exceptionally low from circumstances which cannot continue much longer, and, although the mine can be worked at a handsome profit even on present rates, as will be seen by the estimate attached, it must be manifest what an advantage the Company will possess now that the price is increased. They are purchasing a valuable property at the lowest state of the market when any alteration MUST be for the better. The following extract from one of the latest papers will show the price obtained in England, and it is ridiculous to suppose that with higher wages we can continue selling coal, as we are now doing, at little more than half the English price.

"SOUTH STAFFORDSHIRE, EAST WORCESTERSHIRE, AND WARWICKSHIRE.

"Coal is again dearer, and the supply grows more scarce from week to week. This week Earl Dudley has advanced coal one shilling, and slack six-pence per ton, and the price of the former at the pit's mouth is now sixteen shillings per ton. Proportionately high rates prevail in all parts of the district, and yet the demand is so greatly in excess of supply that the lack of fuel is keeping numbers of iron mills and forges in only partial operation."

The mine is now producing, with very imperfect appliances, 600 tons per week, and Mr. Winship states that, with 40 additional waggons, it could ship 2000 tons per week. The actual cost, including every conceivable charge, is 6s per ton on board in Newcastle, which on the present working would pay a dividend at the rate of 15 per cent. per annum; but if 2000 tons per week is disposed of, it would yield even at present price 50 per cent. per annum on the whole capital of the Company, and for every shilling that the price increased, this Company's dividends would improve by 20 per cent.

The coal is highly appreciated by the Sydney and Melbourne Coal Merchants, and the proprietor has the Government contracts for supplying Morpeth and Maitland.

A Deed of Settlement has been prepared, and can be inspected at the Office of the Secretary.

Shares will be allotted to the first applicants, and when the whole number are applied for, the list will be immediately closed.

This is no mining speculation, like a gold reef, which may run out at any moment, but a property with an established value which will form a permanent investment for many years.

Applications for Shares in the form annexed can be made to the Secretary, or through any respectable broker.

ESTIMATED RESULT OF 2000 TONS COAL PER WEEK.

2000 tons coal, sold at 9s per ton			£900 0 0
Actual cost of gettings as now paid—2s 6d per ton.. ..	£250	0 0
Railway carriage to Newcastle—2s 4d per ton ..	233	6 8
All other expenses, including grease, wear and tear, shipping charge, agency, directors' fees, office rent—1s 2d per ton ..	116	13 4
Actual cost of 2000 tons			600 0 0
Weekly profit			£300 0 0
Yielding per annum the sum of			£15,600 0 0
A dividend of 50 per cent. on £30,000 would be			15,000 0 0
One shilling per ton extra, would yield per annum			5,200 0 0 and thus increase the dividend to nearly 70 per cent.

"To Mr. William Farthing,
"Anvil Creek Colliery, near Maitland.
"Newcastle, April 22nd, 1872

"Dear Sir,—In compliance with your request, I have valued the Anvil Creek Colliery, with its attached land, the minerals underlying the same, and the plant and materials both above and under ground, and now beg to hand you herewith the valuation I have fixed.

"It may be unnecessary, but I think it well to state distinctly, that in performing the duty I have had clearly in mind the present depressed state of the coal trade, and have fixed the value of the different properties in accordance therewith.

"I have no hesitation in saying that, were the price of coal (best) now what it was 3½ years ago, viz., 10s per ton, I should have valued the coal underlying your property at 3d per ton instead of 1d, and would have made all my other estimates from 25 to 50 per cent. higher.

"You will observe that I have estimated the product of your coal seam at only 6000 tons of best coal, per acre. I am aware that this is a very low estimate, but I wished to be if anything below rather than above the mark.

"A tracing of your plan on a scale of two chains to the inch, showing the whole of your freehold properties and the underground workings, accompanies the valuation, and, trusting that these with this explanatory letter will prove satisfactory to you, and help to accomplish the ends you have in view.

"I am, dear Sir,
"Yours faithfully,
"JAMES B. WINSHIP, Colliery Viewer."

"I have the honour to report on Anvil Creek Coal sent on board the Company's steamer City of Newcastle; they are a good steaming coal, easily lighted, get steam up very quick, with little ash or clinker. I consider them the best steaming coal I have used.

"A. S. N. Co.'s steamship Coonambra.

"Having for two years used your Anvil Creek Coals, I found them a free burning coal with very large amount of flame, great heat, there being no clinker, and not more than 5 per cent ashes. They require much less stoking than other coals, and I consider them 10 per cent. better for steaming purposes than any other Australian coal.

PROVISIONAL TRUSTEES:
The Hon. Robert Owen C. K. Moore, Esq.

This Company is being formed for the purchase of and amalgamating FIVE consecutive rich and proved claims on the Buchanan Reef, Bushman's, Currajong, near Forbes, viz.:—

No. 1.—North of Albion, about 161 feet on base line.
Albion, ditto 161 ditto ditto
No. 1.—South of Albion, ditto 171 ditto ditto
Prospectors', ditto 400 ditto ditto
No. 1.—South of Prospectors, ditto 400 ditto ditto
Giving a total of about 1293 feet, equal to nearly 18 acres in length on the new base line regulations.

The reef, which is about two feet wide, having been proved of the same character and richness through nearly the whole extent of the ground, from a depth of 93 feet, where it was first found in the alluvial workings, to 150 feet present level,—places this property beyond doubt a perfectly safe investment, and will yield undoubted large returns for years to come.

THE WORKING OF THE MINE WILL BE INEXPENSIVE.

There are now from 80 to 100 tons of stone at grass from No. 1 North and Albion claims (which will become the property of the Company, together with all stone daily coming to hand.) A trial crushing of 20 tons a few days back gave a return of 95 oz. 14 dwts., equal to 4 oz. 15 dwts. per ton, after the richest of the stone was reserved, a portion of which is now on view.

A machine can be continually kept going, thereby ensuring to investors a steady and immediate return for their outlay.

The report at foot, from a gentleman of long experience as a mining manager, will give an idea of how the ground has been tested; and since the date of his report sundry telegrams and letters advise of the increasing richness of the stone and further development of the reef.

Independent of rest at present being worked, another one—wide and payable—has been cut in sinking the north end claims.

Specimens of the quartz and plan of ground, together with sundry extracts from the FORBES TIMES correspondent, can be seen at the Board Room, over Mr. C. TRAKLE'S, Auctioneer, No. 7, Wynyard-street, and where also every information may be obtained and applications received.

COPY OF REPORT.
"Forbes, September 4th, 1872.

"C. K. Moore, Esq.

"Sir,—In accordance with instructions, I have made a careful survey of your claims at Currajong, known as Buchanan's Reef.

"I find that a very large outcrop of a reef has been struck in No. 1 North and Albion claims in the alluvial, at a depth of 93 and 95 feet respectively.

"In the No. 1 North claim the reef has been opened up 39 feet north in the 110 feet level, and 24 feet south at the 152 feet level. The reef is well defined, with sandstone foot wall and slate hanging wall; lode from 18 inches to 2 feet wide.

"In the Albion claim the shaft has been sunk on the reef 62 feet, and a drive put in south 30 feet on the course of the lode, which is well defined and 2 feet in width. A trial crushing of 20 tons of stone from this drive yielded 95 oz. 14 dwts. of gold. This was seconds stone, the best specimens having been kept out.

"In the No. 1 North and Albion claims at the 150 feet levels the reef has been opened up north and south 103 feet, and has gradually widened out from the 90-feet level to the present depth, and shows very strong underfoot.

"The stone raised from the No. 1 North—and now lying on the surface—and the trial crushing of seconds from the Albion is a sufficient proof of the value of the reef without further comment.

"Prospectors claim, Buchanan's, struck an east and west leader at 90 feet in the shaft, 6 inches wide, stone very rich; 124-foot level drive in west 16 feet cut an east and west leader about 8 inches wide, showing rich stone.

"No. 1 South cut reef in the 80-foot level 50 feet from the shaft east; a monkey shaft has been sunk on the reef 16 feet, which is 12 inches at the bottom, and payable stone.

"I have no hesitation in stating that the reef in the Albion and No. 1 North claims will also be found in the Prospectors and No. 1 South at a deeper level, as they are on a direct line of the course of reef south.

"I remain your obedient servant,
"WM. DICKINSON,
"Mining Manager."

☞ Since the above report was written, and under date Bushman's, September 9, a letter has been received, stating the Prospecting Claim struck the reef on Saturday, with good gold, two feet wide.

LATER ENGLISH NEWS.

By the arrival of the Northumberland (s.) at Port Phillip we are in possession of papers to the 24th July, twelve days later than those received by the last Suez mail, from which we take the following extracts:—

THE GALWAY ELECTION PROSECUTIONS.

In the House of Commons, on the 23rd July, the Attorney-General for Ireland rose and said that, in pursuance of the promise made to the House by his right hon. friend at the head of the Government, he should now proceed to state the course he intended to adopt with reference to the report and certificate of Mr. Justice Keogh in the case of the trial of the Galway Election Petition. He might, perhaps, be allowed, before he went into details, to state some preliminary matters which the House had better understand in order that they might thoroughly comprehend the nature of the action he was about to take, and which he was going to state to the House. The House was aware that a petition was presented by Captain Trench against the return of Captain John Philip Nolan; that that petition was heard for several days, and that the learned judge unseated Captain John Philip Nolan, having reserved a case for the Court of Common Pleas, which Court found itself justified in giving the seat for the county of Galway to Captain Trench. When the learned Judge sent in his certificate to the House he accompanied it by a report, which in its turn was accompanied by the evidence, all which were now in the hands of the hon. members. In that report, at page 3, on the first part of the evidence, he found this statement:—"I further certify that the persons whose names I have set forth in Schedule No. 1 were guilty of undue influence and intimidation within the meaning of the provisions of the Act." On turning to Schedule No. 1 he found thirty-six persons reported for undue influence and intimidation—these thirty-six persons, including the member who was unseated, Captain John Philip Nolan; his brother Sebastian Nolan; the Most Rev. John M'Hale, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Tuam; the Most Rev. Patrick Duggan, Roman Catholic Bishop of Clonfert; the Most Rev. John M'Evilly, Roman Catholic Bishop of Galway; and a number of clergymen of the Roman Catholic Church. The learned judge went on to say: "I further report that the Roman Catholic clergymen named in Schedule No. 2, being the persons named also in Schedule No. 1, by threats of temporal suffering and spiritual punishment, did unduly influence a great number of the Roman Catholic electors of the said county of Galway to vote for the said John Philip Nolan, and to refrain from voting against him." Well, in that schedule he found the names of twenty-two clergymen of the Roman Catholic Church, all of whom were in the schedule No. 1. In that schedule No. 2 no Roman Catholic bishop was named. Further on the learned judge reported that "the Most Rev. John M'Hale, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Tuam, and the Most Rev. John M'Evilly, Roman Catholic Bishop of Galway, were guilty of undue influence, but, although they were so, it was not proved that the said Most Rev. John M'Hale or the Most Rev. John M'Evilly sanctioned, or had taken part in, such denunciations as before mentioned; and the Bishop of Galway proved that such denunciations of any person in any chapel were in direct contravention of the discipline and practices of the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland." Again, the learned Judge further states, "With respect to the Rev. James Patrick O'Brien, the proposer of Captain Nolan, he publicly told a gentleman of the Protestant persuasion that there would not be a hair of his head touched, but that it was the renegade Catholics who would be executed." Under these circumstances, this report and evidence having been presented to the House, it was his duty, as Attorney-General for Ireland, quite irrespective of any order of the House, to consider what he should do with it, he need hardly say, with the greatest care into all the evidence. He had read it with the greatest care, and he trusted that no member of the House would think there had been any unnecessary delay in bringing forward his report. (Hear, hear.) He found the statute imposed the duty upon him. The 26th and 27th Vict., cap. 29, sec. 9, imposed the duty upon the Attorney-General, and that Act, taken in conjunction with the 16th section of the Parliamentary Elections Act of 1868, referring to the report of a Judge, clearly fixed the duty of considering the question upon the Attorney-General. The section stated that the report and evidence should be laid before the Attorney-General, to see if the evidence, in his opinion, was sufficient to support a prosecution. That duty was placed upon the Attorney-General irrespective of any order made by the House. At the very earliest moment he had the evidence before him, it became his duty so to ascertain the position he occupied with respect to this matter. He considered the case one of such gravity and importance, involving so much not only to the persons actually concerned, but to the interests of Ireland and the empire, that he felt himself justified in procuring whatever assistance lay within his reach. He not only had the assistance of his learned colleague the Solicitor-General for Ireland, but also that of the Attorney-General and the Solicitor-General for England, and he was authorised to say that what he was now going to state was the result of their joint opinions. He did not say that to free himself from responsibility—he took the responsibility to the fullest extent—(cheers)—he shared the responsibility with no person; but he thought he was entitled to ask for that assistance, more especially because, in some of the matters raised, he had come to a different conclusion from that of the learned Judge who tried the case, and out of respect for the learned Judge he felt bound to get the assistance indicated. (Hear, hear.) Now he would state the conclusions they had come to. He had arrived at the conclusion that, in the words of the section, the evidence having been laid before him, "there is sufficient evidence to support the prosecution" of a number of persons referred to in the schedule. He would now state the names of these persons. There were thirty-six persons in all, twenty-two being on the second schedule. One name appeared on both schedules very prominently—that of the Rev. Peter Conway, but he had died, and therefore they might put down thirty-five persons on schedule No. 1, and twenty-one persons on schedule No. 2. He had arrived at the conclusion that there were grounds for prosecuting twenty-four of these persons. He was of opinion there were grounds for prosecuting the Most Rev. Patrick Duggan, Roman Catholic Bishop of Clonfert, for undue influence; also Captain John Philip Nolan, and Sebastian Nolan, his brother; and in addition to them, that there were grounds for prosecuting nineteen Roman Catholic clergymen, being all mentioned in schedule No. 2, with the exception of three—one of these being the Rev. Peter Conway, who was dead; another, the Rev. Timothy Keevan; and the third, the Rev. Francis Kenny. The House must be aware that very different considerations influenced those cases when they were presented before a jury in a criminal prosecution, and when they were presented to the mind of a judge in trying an election petition. The prosecution must be under the Corrupt Practices Act; and having regard to all these circumstances, and to the special report of the learned Judge that it was not proved before him that the most Rev. John M'Hale and the most Rev. John M'Evilly sanctioned or took any part in the denunciations, he (the Attorney-General) was unable to satisfy himself that there was sufficient ground for putting those prelates upon their trial. Therefore the conclusion was that 24 of the persons mentioned in these schedules should be put upon their trial—19 out of schedule No. 1, and five in schedule No. 2, including the Rev. Patrick O'Brien, the Rev. G. Kelly, and the Bishop of Clonfert. He need not state to the House that, in the discharge of his duty, he felt it to be a most painful conclusion to arrive at, that it was one he did not think any right-thinking man could differ from. (Hear, hear.) It was a most painful duty he had to discharge, and he trusted he should never be again called upon to discharge such a one. But he could not shrink from doing that which he believed was right. He was supported by his own conscience in what he had done, and having discharged his duty he had nothing to apologise for and nothing to regret. (Loud cheers.)

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF THE KING AND QUEEN OF SPAIN.

The correspondent of the Standard, writing from Madrid, 19th July, says:—Your readers know it is the custom of King Amadeus and his Queen to move about Madrid without restraint, without escort, and without ostentation. They visit the charities, they walk, they ride, they frequent the places of public resort without the least pretension to greatness or the least exhibition of mistrust in their subjects. Of this confiding custom the wretches who have lent themselves to be the instruments of crafty and cowardly enemies resolved to take advantage to carry out their fiendish design. Thursday evening, 18th July, between 8 and 9, the authorities learnt mysteriously that an attack would probably be made on their Majesties during the evening. They immediately apprised the King, but he was incredulous. Soon after this her Majesty was apprised of the news which the King had received, on which she declared she was no more afraid than he was, and she insisted on accompanying him to the Retiro concert. The authorities took, as they thought, every precaution. They watched suspicious houses, cafés, and persons. Well-armed police were stationed at short distances all along the line usually taken by their Majesties, namely, the Plaza Oriente, Plaza de Pirm, Calle Arenal, Puerto del Sol, and Alcala, to the Retiro Gardens, at the end of the latter street. King Amadeus and Queen Maria Vittoria drove to the Retiro Gardens a little before 10. They attended the concert, which is a sort of open-air promenade affair by first-class instrumentalists, and soon after 12 they drove home, the armed police being in strong force along the line, many of them being in plain clothes. Their Majesties sat on the back seat, General Burgos on the opposite one, with the King in front of him. The tabena, or wine shop, of one Pastor, in the Plaza Mayor, had been particularly watched all the evening, by virtue of what special information I know not. A few minutes before 12 some fourteen or sixteen men emerged out of this tavern, and walked towards the Plaza de Prim. Here they divided apparently, but only to meet again in small groups in the Calle Arenal. These took up stations at different points, and remained conversing in knots of two or three. It is said that the police were just about to demand their business when the Royal carriage entered the street, about a quarter-past 12. It drove rapidly down towards the Palace. As it passed the Hotel de las Cuatio Naciones, General Burgos saw a tall man with long grey beard suddenly raise a short gun and fire. Instantly he seized the Queen with one arm and the King with the other; and before they could recover their surprise was holding them down across his knees, as it were covering them with his immense frame. The balls had been fired at the horses. The coachman set off at a gallop; bang, bang, bang, bang (four times repeated), taking place as the horses sped on. At the same instant the police fired on the miscreants, who seemed to be in four or five points along the street. At the bottom of the street is a cab stand. Hastily ejecting from the dicky the sleeping driver of one of these cabs or berlinas, a confederate of the assassins seized the horse's head, and giving it a blow started the animal in a direction where it would cross the path of the Royal carriage. Fortunately the King's coachman saw the design, and by an adroit movement drove his pair full tilt against the cab-horse, thus turning his direction, and in fact locking the wheels of cab and carriage together. On he drove at a furious gallop, pulling cab and horse along with him, till at the entrance into the Plaza Orientes the cab-horse fell, and the two vehicles became unlocked. A moment more and the royal carriage entered the patio of the palace, and its occupants alighted. Next instant one of the animals fell dead. It had received seven balls. It was evident the assassins aimed to kill the horses first, so as to detain the carriage, and thus make sure of their hellish work. Their Majesties displayed great serenity. The Queen observed to General Rosselli, "Thanks to my God, we are here in safety!" The King said, "They killed Don Juan Prim, and his assassins have never appeared. They will now be discovered." As soon as he had deposited his charge in safety in the palace patio, General Burgos ran back to the Calle Arenal as fast as his long legs could carry him, to assist in the capture of the assassins, between whom and the police quite a battle had been going on. He came up just in time to see one of them, who had fired his revolver three times on the police, shot dead, and to identify another who had been captured after a deadly resistance, in which he had received a ball in the breast. He had the unmistakable long grizzly beard and the equally unmistakable weapon General Burgos had seen as the first one fired. He proved to be the keeper of the suspected tavern in the Plaza Mayor, and evidently was the leader of the gang. His name is Jose Pastor. Two others of the miscreants who were seen to fire at the carriage threw down their muskets and fled up a side street, with the police after them. They rushed into a café, sat down, and had just called for coffee, when their pursuers entered. They were pallid and excited, and at once the police picked them out by these signs from the other persons sitting at the little round tables. Of course they denied their guilt, but their hands blackened with powder, and their pockets filled with ammunition, added to their alarmed demeanor and their pallid countenances, furnished irresistible evidence of guilt. The dead culprit was conveyed to the general hospital, and the three living ones to the Gubierno Civil. The excited crowd tried hard to kill them, and the officers had difficulty in saving them from lynch law. The man Pastor was found to have on him an overcoat, under that a blouse, and under that again a jacket à la Figaro, so that if he had had a chance of getting up a side street he could have changed his dress three times in five seconds. He had lots of ammunition in his pocket. The King remained up a long time, talking and explaining the affair to those around him. He seemed very cool and collected. The Queen retired to her own apartments. Outside the palace and all along the Calle Arenal the crowds frequently burst out with "Vive el Rey!" accompanied with "Mueren los Asesinos!" They also eagerly examined the bullet holes in the walls, which exist in five different places and on both sides of the street. At 8 this morning, his Majesty, accompanied only by General Burgos, walked from the Palace to the Calle Arenal, and spent a long time in examining the bullet holes. Crowds gathered round him and cheered him loudly. They also added, "Death to the assassins." His Majesty spoke a few words to them expressive of his recognition of their sympathy, and telling them that the law would judge the criminals.

The following telegrams appeared in the Times of July 22:—

Madrid, July 19.—The King was enthusiastically cheered while walking in the Calle Arenal to-day, and examining the holes caused by the projectiles, which are five in number. Upon driving out this afternoon with the Queen and Crown Prince, an immense throng of people followed, cheering incessantly. The Republican party is believed to be innocent of participation in the crime.

Valladolid, July 21.—Upon the return of their Majesties from their drive on Friday afternoon, they received a great ovation. The crowd which had followed them all the afternoon, cheering, had increased to over 50,000 by the time they returned to the Palace. Cries of "Vive el Rey! La Reina!" and "Death to the Assassins!" were heard on every side. Their Majesties came out upon the balcony of the Palace, and acknowledged the welcome granted to them. The Queen was greatly affected. In order further to gratify the public they attended the concert at the Buen Retiro Gardens in the evening, and went thence to Price's Circus. The cheering was incessant in both places. The Government believe they have discovered the authors of the conspiracy, and at the same time of that against Prim. They are satisfied that this last crime was not a Republican attempt.

THE FRENCH LOAN.

The Paris correspondent of the Times, in speaking of the new French loan, on the 19th July, says:—In former times, the small fundholder, the landed proprietor, the peasant, had far less pressing wants, and when they had amassed some small savings it was not five or six per cent. that they sought for it; what they most looked for was not a lucrative but a safe investment, and a peasant who had purchased stock would have been regarded in his village as a most ambitious person. Things have changed indeed. It is the savings of the whole country which are being directed towards the public Rentes, not, as has been pretended, from motives of patriotism, but because the future loan will return 6½ per cent., while mortgages only bring in 4.90, house property only 4½, and land 3 or 3½ per cent. We may, therefore, be quite certain that the whole country will subscribe. It is even probable that the subscriptions of the nation alone will suffice to cover the loan twice over, for, besides those who will subscribe for investment, there will be others who will do so in order to sell at a premium. But it is also to be expected that the foreign subscriptions will be sufficiently large to cause the loan to be thrice covered, which would involve a reduction by two-thirds of all the subscriptions offered. It is no exaggerated belief to expect that the French subscriptions, even if reduced to one-third of the proffered amount, will represent 1½ milliard—that is, one-half of the total amount of the loan—and that the other half will be subscribed by the rest of the world. Now, thanks to the decision of the Government not to appeal to the bankers, we shall shortly see a singular phenomenon. Since the public are invited to lend their savings, the monetary crisis which might have been expected will probably be much less important than is anticipated. The bank note has become the current circulating medium in France, and is also particularly convenient. The merchant, the manufacturer, the banker, the stockbroker—all make use of bank notes by preference, because they enable a great saving of time and trouble to be effected. On the other hand, the man who saves, who puts by money, who wishes to be prepared for all events, and who fears accidents, he makes his hoards in gold and silver. There was in France before the payment of the last two milliards, as far as can be ascertained, nearly five milliards of gold and one and a half milliard of silver. Admitting that one and a half milliard in gold and silver was drawn forth by the last loan, and that there is still half a milliard, or even a milliard, out of the country, there remain more than five milliards in gold and silver in France. The present circulation of bank notes is 2360 millions of francs—that is to say, of the seven and a half-milliards of money of all kinds existing in France, less than one-third consists of bank notes. Now, if it be borne in mind that the bank notes are in the hands of those who will not take any very great part in the future loan, while that portion of the nation which saves, and does so in hard cash, will subscribe en masse, we may conclude that of the 1½ milliard that will be subscribed in France, 550 millions at most will be paid in bank notes, and 1200 millions in coin. It is easy to perceive that with such proportions of paper and cash a monetary crisis can readily be prevented, especially when we remember that by a very wise precaution the Assembly has authorised the Bank of France to increase its note circulation from 2800 millions to 3200 millions. It must be allowed that the organisation of the Bank of France, its statutes, and the wisdom and intelligent firmness of its administration, are for France not only an immense resource, but also an immense guarantee of good credit. It would be wrong to infer that this permission to extend its circulation, granted to the Bank of France, changes in any way its course of proceeding. It is not restricted by a formal law, like the English Act of 1854, within definite limits, but it has statutes and traditions which it has never failed to observe, which have preserved and will preserve it from all disastrous misfortunes. It is owing to that absolute security which it represents that the holders of its notes do not seek to get rid of them, to the profit of the Treasury, and that only those who have no other kind of money present them in payment for subscriptions. Notwithstanding the law of last year, which empowered it to extend its circulation to 2800 millions, it has never exceeded 2500 millions in its note circulation. In June, 1871, at the time of the issue of the last loan, its circulation was 2290 millions; a month later, in July, 1871, it only amounted to 1938 millions. On the other hand, its store of bullion was in June, 1871, 522 millions, and in July, 1871, 667 millions. Thus, the larger its circulation the smaller was its store of bullion, and vice versâ. That arises from the fact that bank-notes are the money of commerce and trade, and it may be added, the money preferred. The greater the activity there is in commerce and manufacture the more bank-notes are employed, but gold comes back in exchange because the exchange is made against commercial paper. It is for that reason that the Bank of France may make a further issue to the extent of 440 millions before attaining its former maximum, and 840 millions before reaching the maximum fixed by the recent law. But this must also be remembered, that French bank-notes only enter into circulation against a commercial equivalent, and the solidity of that security may be judged by the fact that out of 925 millions of suspended bills, 320 millions have been duly met. Thus, if the circulation of bank-notes increases, it is because France will make enormous commercial and industrial efforts to recover lost time and money, and, contrary to all received opinions, it may be said that in France the circulation of bank-notes is in direct relation to the prosperity of the country. The larger the circulation of notes, the more active are commerce and manufactures, the busier are the workshops, the greater the produce, and the more prosperous the country.

THE STRIKE AND LOCK-OUT.

The Times of 24th July states:—Up to the time of the lock-out on the 17th June the only two branches of the building trade who had presented memorials to the employers for the "nine hours and 9d. per hour" were the masons and the joiners. The strike of the latter against two large firms belonging to the Masters' Association produced the lock-out, throwing out of employment the men in the other branches who had taken no part in the movement—the painters, plasterers, bricklayers, metal workers, and labourers. In self-defence, these branches at once proceeded to organize committees, to collect funds to support the number locked out, and an amalgamated committee was formed, composed of two delegates from the committee of each trade. Before, however, this organization was completed, the lock-out was withdrawn by the masons coming to an arrangement with the masters. Although, therefore, the amalgamated committee of building trades is still in existence, the carpenters and joiners are the only branch in the building trade actually on strike. They number about 2000. A special meeting of the Carpenters' and Joiners' Central Committee was held yesterday at the Brown Bear, Bloomsbury, Mr. Fadler in the chair. The special business having been concluded, the letter of Mr. Bird, although not officially before the committee, was considered and discussed. The general feeling of the committee was that it would be useless to send any deputation unless they were prepared to accept the 8½d. per hour. It was ultimately decided that the question should be left to the decision of the delegate meeting to be held on Thursday evening; but that in the meantime the representatives of the joiners on the amalgamated committee should be instructed not to take part in any deputation that committee might think proper to send. Information was given to the committee that several of the masters were sending down agents to the provinces to induce men to come up to London. Telegrams were at once sent off to the secretaries of the various societies to call general meetings of the carpenters and joiners in all towns, to explain the exact position of affairs, and to prevent as far as possible men coming to London while the strike was in progress. The finance committee state that they hope to be able to increase the dividend considerably next Monday.

With regard to the impending strike among the London and North-Western Railway servants, the answer to the memorial requesting the removal of Mr. George Greenish having proved unsatisfactory, the men in the goods department have given notice to leave their employment on Friday next. This matter was the subject of discussion at a meeting of the executive council of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, last night. The president, Dr. Baxter Langley, advised the adoption of a conciliatory policy, and suggested that the dispute should be referred to arbitration, and that the men should accept the award whatever it might be. A resolution to this effect was adopted, and a committee appointed to carry out the arrangement.

The drivers, guards, and horsekeepers in the employment of the various Liverpool omnibus companies turned out yesterday morning for an advance of wages. The drivers seek 5s. a day, instead of 4s 6d.; the guards 4s., 3s. 6d., and 3s., according to standing; and the horsekeepers ask 4s. a day. At a meeting of the men, held in the forenoon, a resolution was unanimously passed, demanding a cessation of Sunday labour, in addition to the rates of pay sought. The result of the strike so far is that very few omnibuses are running. Considerable inconvenience arose in Liverpool on Monday owing to the strike among a large number of porters employed at the goods stations of the London and North-Western and Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Companies. Yesterday, however, they returned to their work, it having been intimated that until they did so no promise would be made. They sought an increase of 6d. a day.

On Monday between 400 and 500 men employed upon the quays of Bristol in discharging grain cargoes, and also as corn porters, struck work for an increase of wages. There was at the time a large number of vessels in the port with grain, and the merchants were in consequence put to considerable inconvenience, and were threatened with very serious loss, the demurrage on some of the ships being very heavy. The men met at noon in Queen-square and resolved upon the following list of prices:—For meters, 5d. per 100 bushels of 60 lbs. and over; 4d. per 100 bushels under 60 lb.; for landers or sack carriers, the same rate, with loading money; and for day workmen, 4s per day, 1600 bushels to constitute a day's work. The merchants had an interview with the men at the office of Messrs. Wait and James, when the foregoing scale, which is an advance of 1d. per bushel, and of 1s. per day for day workmen, was submitted. The masters offered a compromise, which was rejected by the men, and later in the afternoon the full advance asked by the men was conceded, and they resumed work yesterday morning.

The butchers of Huddersfield held a meeting to consider what steps they should take in consequence of the unremunerating nature of their trade, and the dissatisfaction with them expressed by the public. After a long discussion it was agreed that after Saturday next no butcher should sell any meat for fourteen days, under penalty of £20, to be given to the Huddersfield Infirmary. Only one butcher refused to sign a document to that effect. Purveyors to the public institutions were exempted from the arrangement, so far as it affected their contracts.

A CURIOUS STRIKE.

A novel strike has been recorded. The butchers of Huddersfield have struck against the high price of meat and the exclusion of healthy foreign cattle from the English market, and have agreed to close their shops for a fortnight from Saturday next. This is a most emphatic reply to the loud complaints of their customers. But unhappily we do not see how it will tend to remedy the evil. The working women who, in various parts of the North of England, have resolved to eat no more meat till it becomes cheaper, have taken a very practical step; but it is to be feared that the Huddersfield butchers are simply giving an opportunity to their brother tradesmen in neighbouring towns to do a good stroke of business. In one respect their action will have a beneficial result. It will strongly direct attention to a great evil, and will show the public who are complaining of the butchers, that it is not they who keep up the price of meat. The political turn given to this Huddersfield movement is worth note. These Huddersfield butchers evidently think that the exclusion of foreign cattle is partly the cause of the dearness of meat. The question is at any rate, worth inquiring into. Somehow, demand does not in this case create supply.

INTERCOLONIAL TARIFFS.

In the House of Commons, on the 15th July, in reply to Mr. F. J. Smyth, Mr. Gladstone said there had been a correspondence with certain Governments in Australia upon the subject of intercolonial tariffs, but it would be wrong to say that any disagreement had arisen until the correspondence was closed, and the parties remained at issue. That state of things did not exist, and therefore there was no disagreement, though it was true that at the present moment the Governments of Australia and the Home Government did not regard the question from the same point of view. The matters under discussion were by no means of such a character as to call for immediate discussion here. If this were the beginning of the session, and sufficient time were at the disposal of the House, no objection would be raised on the part of the Government to the subject being discussed. But as matters now stood, they were not aware of any reason why other business should be postponed in order to bring on a discussion upon this question, which was not yet in a state of entire ripeness for consideration by Parliament.

VIOLENT STORMS IN ENGLAND.

The rain during Thursday and Friday, 18th and 19th July, in the neighbourhood of Manchester was accompanied with thunder and lightning, and at intervals the downpour was such as is seldom exceeded during the most terrible storms. The Medlock and Mersey Rivers seriously overflowed their banks, and the escaping floods from them have done immense damage. Many of the shops in London Road were flooded, and in some of the buildings which are dwelling-houses the inmates were driven upstairs to escape the water and made prisoners for many hours in the upper stories. A very ghastly aspect was given to affairs during the afternoon by the appearance in the stream of a considerable number of dead bodies, some of them in coffins and some of them without, which had been washed away from the Roman Catholic portion of the cemetery near to Philips Park. During the early part of Saturday afternoon the Gorton reservoir, near Manchester, belonging to the Manchester Corporation, burst, and an immense volume of water flowed upon the Sheffield Railway, very seriously impeding the traffic for a time, besides doing great damage. A large quantity of water escaping from this reservoir swept over the populous village of Fallowfield, flooding the turnpike road to the depth of several feet, and filling and damaging the cottages of the poor, besides doing much other damage. The river Mersey, which passes through Stockport, and comes within a few miles of Manchester, burst its banks during the afternoon at a point near Didsbury Church, and has placed a large tract of country on the Lancashire side of the stream under water. There is an artificial embankment for some miles along this side of the river. At Didsbury in some places it is from 15 to 20 feet high, and of considerable breadth and strength, but during the afternoon the water began to wash over the top, and soon made for itself a new channel, which every moment increased in depth and breadth till the whole valley formed an immense lake—in some places as much as six or eight feet deep, and covering, besides meadow and pasture lands, fields filled with grain, potatoes, and other growing crops.

On Saturday evening a thunderstorm heavier than had been known for years burst over the neighbourhood of Newbury, Berkshire, and lasted for upwards of two hours. No serious results to persons or cattle have been reported, but the rain has caused much damage to the crops, the growing corn being considerably beaten down, especially on the hills; and a fearful storm broke over Lexden and Stanway, near Colchester, doing much and serious injury to the crops. The valley was flooded, and a good deal of property carried away. A waterspout broke over some land by the side of the Great Eastern Railway, about a mile northwest of Colchester, and descending the cutting at Baker's bridge, flooded some length of the line. Friday's thunderstorm was the most destructive known for many years past throughout Nottinghamshire, large numbers of buildings having been struck by the electric fluid, and many persons injured. The lightning struck the roof of a high cardpunching workshop in Nottingham, belonging to Mr. B. Toone, in Wollaston-street. The roof was utterly destroyed, and in the workshop on the third story, a youth named Joseph Hitchen was struck down, sustaining serious injuries by falling among the machinery. A workman, named Joseph Langedell, was also affected, his left side being paralysed. Mrs. Toone, who was in a lower room, was rendered insensible, and it was a long time before any of the inmates recovered consciousness. A fire ball fell in front of Mr. Berry's factory, in the same street, with a loud crash. William Laney, while driving a pony and cart, was struck down in Gelding-lane, and was yesterday still under medical attendance. A perfect flood of water ran so high through the Midland station, that persons standing on the platform were glad to take refuge in the carriages. Two semi-detached villa residences belonging to Mr. Blackburn were struck by lightning, setting fire to the gas which happened to be turned on, and firing the roof. Immense damage was done both in Derbyshire and Leicestershire. Syston parish church was struck by the electric fluid, knocking off one of the pinnacles and an upper angle of the tower. The deluging rain has caused considerable damage to the hay and corn crops, many miles of land being under water. On Saturday the Trent, which had a very strong freshet, and had a great height, was covered with floating hay, straw, and splinters of trees. The fruit crop in Derbyshire has become quite a failure. In the Valley of the Don much damage has been caused by the storms of last week and the heavy flood of Friday and Saturday. About noon on Friday, in the midst of the thunderstorm, a house on the Bentley Road, close to the town, was struck by lightning, which dismantled the roof and passed down the chimney into a bedroom, and hence through the floor into a sitting room, knocking down a woman who sat sewing, smashing crockery and other ware, setting fire to some wood work, and passing out at the window. The river Don, which had already overflowed its banks on Thursday and Friday, poured out volumes of water upon the adjacent meadows—the flood in time reaching higher lands and crops of greater value than meadow grass. The wheat crop and grain crops generally have suffered severely, not only from the beating down of the rain, but from being flooded, and even submersed in many districts. At Sheffield, two boys were drowned—one while he was bathing in a submerged brickfield, the other fell over some rails upon which he was leaning to watch the Don as it flowed past the wicker. While in the water, the latter was seen by hundreds of persons, but the river was flowing too swiftly to admit of any attempt to rescue him. In Norfolk, at Reeting, Mr. Watson, farm bailiff to Mr. W. Angerstein, high sheriff of the county, was killed by lightning while sheltering himself under a tree. Another employé of Mr. Angerstein's, who was under the tree with Mr. Watson, was also struck by the lightning and rendered insensible, but has since recovered. In Preston two or three houses were struck by lightning, but the damage was not serious. A storm raged at Wigan almost without cessation from Thursday morning to Saturday night, when the river Douglas, which runs through the heart of the town, overflowed its banks, and did very considerable damage. The storms were felt with great severity in most parts of Cumberland, but especially in the neighbourhood of Carlisle. At the village of Wetheral, some four or five miles east of Carlisle, two valuable draught horses were struck dead on Friday, while out in a field. A horse in the same village was also struck. At Farleton, Westmoreland, six fine calves, belonging to Mr. James Wilson, were killed by the lightning, which split a tree underneath which they were huddling. Mr. Thos. of Kirkby Lonsdale, had a narrow escape. While riding on the road, the lightning shivered a tree under which he was passing.

EXTRAORDINARY RIFLE SCORES.

We learn from the London Standard of 18th July that at Wimbledon corporal Larkin, of the Canadian team, made the extraordinary score, at 500 and 600 yards, seven shots at each range, of 56, being the highest possible score, in addition to which his four sighting shots were all bullseyes. This marvellous achievement was accomplished with a Metford match rifle. Yet more extraordinary was Mr. Edward Ross's score in the Albert competition, second stage. The range was 1000 yards, and the number of shots fifteen, and Mr. Ross actually made, with a Metford rifle, eleven bullseyes and four centres, or 56 out of a possible 60! Of course, he took the £100 prize. Corporal Larkin, the hero of the Canadian team, made 54, and Mr. Ward, of Chester, tied him with the same number. For the any Rifle Wimbledon Cup, restricted to winners of certain prizes and challenge plates, seven shots each at 600 and 1000 yards, Mr. Edward Rose, shooting with his per Metford rifle, made, an hour before evening gunfire, one of those scores which are all but incredible, and which bear inexpugnable testimony to the absolute perfection to which rifles and shooting have now been brought. In every one of his fourteen shots he made bullseyes! Such shooting as this can only result in one of two things—either the size of the targets must be diminished, or the dimensions of the eyes must be reduced. Presently we shall have everybody making bullseyes at every range, and that will never do. But honour to Mr. Edward Ross, the best small-bore shot in England. If his health had allowed him to make himself an efficient so as to enter for the Queen's, Sergeant Michie and everybody else might have retired at a very early period of the competition. The following were the scores for the Albert Prize (second stage), 1000 yards, 15 shots:—

	Points.
Mr. E. Ross, London Scottish—£100 prize	56
Corporal Larkin, Nova Scotia	54
Mr. Ward, Chester	54
Ensign Kelman, 7th Banffshire	53
Lieutenant Whitelaw, 102nd Lancashire	53
Lieutenant-Colonel Malcolm, Argyleshire	53
Lieutenant-Colonel Sir H. Halford, Leicestershire ...	52
Ensign Smyth, 3rd Lanarkshire	52
Mr. Busbelle, 22nd Middlesex, late of New South Wales ...	51
Captain Muir, 34th Regiment	51
Mr. Wilson, Ulster Royal Artillery	50
Sergeant Fergusson, 1st Inverness-shire	50
Private Clews, 3rd Renfrewshire	50
Mr. M. Smith	50
Lieutenant Purchas, 14th Worcestershire	50
Mr. Kinnear, Edinburgh	48
Lieutenant Humphry, Cambridge University	48

In the first stage of the Albert prize, Mr. Busbelle, with seven shots at each of the ranges at 200, 600, and 800 yards, made 80 points, being fourth on the list, and winning a prize of £25; he also won an extra prize in the contest for the Spencer Cup, making 27 out of a possible 28 at 600 yards.

COLONIAL RIFLE TEAMS AT WIMBLEDON.

Saturday July 13th (says the Standard) was a busy day indeed at Wimbledon, the programme being crowded to repletion with competitions—indeed, it is a question if there were not too many of them altogether. The day was fine during shooting hours, and there were many visitors from town, especially after four o'clock. The competition which excited the keenest interest was that for the late Rajah of Kolapore's Imperial Challenge Cup, with £100 added by the association, "to be competed for annually, at Wimbledon, by one team from the mother country and one from each of the provinces of India or from each colony," with three-groove Sniders of Government pattern. Unfortunately, considerations of time and space must preclude the contest for this prize from ever becoming general. The Canadians, who are perhaps more comfortably comped than any others on the ground, were the only colonials found to enter the lists, for although there are some stray volunteers in camp all the way from our settlements in China, there were not enough men from any one colony other than the Dominion to make up a team. The ranges were 200 yards standing, 500 and 600 yards any position, and the Canadians certainly did very well from the beginning of the competition, which was watched with keen interest, and attended by no little excitement. The scoring at the first distance was—Canada, 183; England, 177. At the 500 yards the home men pulled up a little, having defeated the colonials by one point only—184 to 183. Again, at 600 yards the tables were turned, the Dominion winning by three—166 against 163. Thus on the three ranges the Canadians made 532 against the English, Irish, and Scottish 524. It cannot be more gratifying to the men who have travelled so far to win this Challenge Cup, and the £100 which accompanies it, than it is to England to see it carried off in triumph by the oldest of our great colonies; and it may be hoped that the success of the Canadians in this competition will induce the attendance in future years of teams from India and Australia. It is needless to say that the Canadians were heartily cheered when the result was made known. The following were the aggregate scores:—

Canadians.	Total.
Gunner Shand, Nova Scotia	70
Private Ferguson, 2nd Battalion G.T.R.	69
Quartermaster Thomas, 54th Battalion, Canada	68
Ensign Johnson, New Brunswick	68
Private Bell, 10th R. Toronto ... ...

The following is a copy from the log of the barque Mary Blair, on a voyage from Foochow to Sydney, and which arrived yesterday:—"Left Foochow Friday, July 12, with moderate south-west winds and fine clear weather, which continued up to July 16, in latitude 26° N., longitude 131° E.; from the above to July 28, in latitude 28° N., longitude 148 E., light variable winds from all quarters, averaging about fifty miles per day. July 29th and 30th experienced a heavy gale from the south-east, blowing with great violence for forty-eight hours; from the above to August 26th, a continuation of light variable winds, and at times attended with heavy rain, thunder, and lightning, latitude 12·14 N., longitude 156° E. From the above to August 29th, in latitude 7 N., longitude 158·44 E., light easterly winds, with very severe squalls, attended with heavy thunder and lightning and hard rain, the squalls lasting from twenty to thirty minutes, several of them being that heavy causing all sail, except the lower topsails, to be taken in. August 29th, passed about thirty miles to the eastward of the island of Ascension, or Bonabe, one of the Caroline group. From the island of Bonabe to the Equator, which was crossed August 31, in longitude 160·40 E., light winds varying from E. to S.E., and a current setting to the westward at the rate of 30 miles per day. From the above to September 2, in latitude 5 S., longitude 164·14 E., fresh gales veering from E. to S., with very heavy squalls and constant rain and vivid lightning throughout the night, and not getting any observation of any description for four days. From the above to September 13, in latitude 21·8 S., longitude 157° E., the first two days light winds varying from south to east, with gloomy weather the remainder, strong easterly gales with heavy squalls and constant rain, not being able to see more than quarter of a mile from the ship the whole time. On the 13th, got good observations and found the ship's position as above in the fairway channel between the Kean Reef and the Brampton Shoals. From the above to September 17, in latitude 26·20 S., longitude 154·40, moderate winds between east and south-east, attended with very fine weather. From the above to making Sydney Heads light northerly winds and fine weather. I also wish to report that the Island inserted in the China Pilot as Recruit Island, supposed to be in latitude 26·8 N., longitude 134·44 E. cannot possibly have any existence, as I passed over the assumed position on a fine clear day, and could see nothing of it in a radius of 20 miles, and there is not the slightest doubt that Captain J. Lyall, of the ship Recruit, must have mistaken it for the Raleigh Rock, which I saw shortly afterwards, and by my observations taken at noon, and the distance run, places the rock correctly on the chart. There is also a shoal marked on the Admiralty and other charts named the Hossack or Cyclone Shoal right in the fairway between the Inshore Channel and Hongkong. I have passed over the assumed place three different times in very fine weather, and had it been in existence I must have seen something of it, as it is reported in the China Pilot to be very shoal, and breaks. There are also marked on the Admiralty Chart two reefs on the north-east coast of Formosa, the northernmost one latitude 24·30 N., longitude 122·46 E., the southernmost one latitude 24·19 N., longitude 122·46 E. with the island of Koumi, the west end bearing from the south reef N.E. by E. ½ E., distance about 14 miles. I have also passed over the assumed positions of these reefs on several occasions, and can safely say they are not in existence, and shipmasters working along this coast in the north-east monsoons can stand boldly over towards the Island of Koumi, if requiring to do so, without fear. There are also marked down on the chart a group of rocks named the Soundronet Rocks and also a small island named Harp Island, on the east coast of Formosa, about 50 miles from the shore. I have also passed over these on several occasions in fine weather, and could see nothing of them in a radius from the foretopsail yard. All these imaginary reefs, rocks, and islands are generally laid down on the chart from information gathered from the Nautical Magazine and other works, reports of shipmasters on their different voyages, who are anxious to have their names placed in these works as the inventors of these imaginary dangers. If shipmasters were to be a little more careful and examine these unknown dangers, which no one else can find but themselves, before sending them for publication, the charts of the North Pacific and other seas would not be strewn all over with reefs, rocks, and shoals which never had any existence.

The P. and O. Co.'s s. Bangalore arrived in Hobson's Bay at 5 p.m. yesterday, and, having to coal, would probably not leave Port Phillip until this morning, arriving in Sydney early on Monday.

LORD ASHLEY (s.).—This favourite passenger ship is now being fitted with a new crank shaft, forged at Mr. Mort's works. The shaft, when it left the steam hammer, weighed two tons, but has now been reduced to much finer proportions. The work has only occupied some three weeks, is well finished, and reflects the very greatest credit on the Waterview Bay establishment. The Lord Ashley has been docked and thoroughly overhauled, and is apparently none the worse for the 21,500 miles she has already run in the Queensland trade. Comfortable fittings have been put up for the Charters Towers rush. The Lord Ashley leaves on Tuesday next.

The City of Adelaide (s.), from Melbourne, left Sandridge at 2.20 p.m. on the 17th instant, cleared the Heads at 5.30 p.m., rounded Wilson's Promontory at 3 a.m. on the 18th, Gabo Island at 11.45 p.m. same day, entered Port Jackson Heads at 4 a.m. on the 20th, and arrived at Company's Wharf at 6 a.m. Experienced fresh head winds and fine weather throughout the passage.

The City of Brisbane (s.) left Brisbane at noon on the 18th instant, passed Smoky Cape at 3.30 p.m. on the 19th, and entered Sydney Heads at 11.30 a.m. on the 20th; S.E. and N.E. winds with fine weather prevailed throughout the passage.

The Lady Denison, brig, now discharging her Mauritius cargo, is turning it out in first-class order, which speaks well for our colonial-built craft.

ARRIVAL OF THE S. S. NORTHUMBERLAND.—The screw steam clipper which arrived in Hobson's Bay in February last on her maiden voyage, entered her second appearance in these waters yesterday, and although her first passage was a decided success, her present run out has altogether surpassed it, and it may fairly be claimed for her that she has distinguished herself on this occasion by making one of the fastest passages on record from England direct. Not the least singular circumstance in connexion with her present voyage is the fact that by the last mail Captain Skinner, her commander, wrote out to his agents stating that he would be in Hobson's Bay on September 16, but when there was no word of her from Cape Otway or the Heads yesterday morning, it was deemed that he had been over sanguine and had slightly miscalculated the powers of his vessel. Her arrival at the Heads, however, early yesterday afternoon, and her subsequent appearance in the bay last night, quite confirmed Captain Skinner's prognostication, and proved his confidence in the good ship to be well-founded. The Northumberland, in addition to making a rapid passage, has brought twelve days' later English papers. The whole distance run by the Northumberland from Plymouth Sound to Port Phillip Heads was 12,410 miles, giving her an average of 238 miles per day, and it may be mentioned that out of the 52 days she was at sea, she was 37 days under steam, and her consumption of coal during that period was 592 tons.—Argus, September 19.

SPECIAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

CITY BANK GOLD PROMOTERS' COMPANY.—A special report on the ground received, and can be seen at our office. A few shares, £10 each, not yet taken up. M'VAY BAIRD, THOMPSON, and CO., 308, George-street.

PROSPECTUS of the MAITLAND GAS-LIGHT COMPANY. (Limited).

Capital £15,500, in 3100 Shares of £5 each,

1400 of which fully paid-up are reserved for the present proprietors, and 1700 are now offered to the public, on the following terms, viz.:—£2 10s per share to be paid on application, and the balance upon allotment.

The List will be closed on the 23rd September, 1872, when all shares will be allotted pro rata, a preference being given to bona fide Maitland applicants and consumers; and not more than 100 shares will be allotted to any one applicant.

The sum so raised will be paid to the proprietors upon completion of the purchase of the property, the proprietors bearing all expenses incurred in floating the company, including the cost of conveying the land to the trustee, and preparation of the deed of settlement.

The proprietors will, on formation of the Company, pay the sum of £500 to the credit of the Company as working capital; and should the Company not be floated, deposits will be returned in full.

The Proprietors undertake to sell none of their 1400 shares until the Company shall have been floated at least twelve months.

TRUSTEE:
Thomas Cadell, Esq., 183, Pitt-street, Sydney.
SOLICITORS:
Messrs. Colquhoun and Colquhoun, West Maitland.
BROKER:
J. Mullens, 131, Pitt-street.

Messrs. J. W. Tuck and H. G. Tuck, the present proprietors of the Maitland Gas Works, have long considered that the establishment of a Maitland Gas-light Company would be highly advantageous; and in consequence of the ill-health and advanced age of Mr. J. W. Tuck, the senior partner, necessitating his retiring from business, the proprietors have now resolved to offer their Gas Manufactory, Plant, &c., &c., to the public.

It will be seen that the proprietors evince their faith in the success of the proposed Company, by reserving to themselves 1400 shares, representing an investment of £7000.

The returns to the present proprietors from the first establishment of their Works have been highly satisfactory, and it cannot be doubted that the formation of a Company (in which the shareholders may most likely be consumers) will not only afford an excellent investment to shareholders, but also under energetic management the operations of the proposed Company may be widely and profitably extended, and gas supplied at a cheaper rate consumers-ante with such extension.

The present working plant is so complete as to admit of a far larger manufacture and supply of gas than at present consumed, at the extra cost only of the additional coal required.

The operations of the present Proprietors have hitherto been confined to the township of West Maitland, but they may easily be extended to the township of East Maitland; and it may be fairly anticipated that the Borough Councils of West and East Maitland will (following the example of other municipalities) see the necessity for lighting the main streets of those towns with gas, which, if carried out, would also add to the revenue of the proposed Company.

The works are of the most approved description, are in first-class order, and are referred to in the accompanying report of Mr. J. N. Wark, Engineer of the Australian Gas Light Company, Sydney.

The land and plant to be conveyed to the proposed Company will be vested in Thomas Cadell, Esq., in trust, who will transfer the same to the representatives of the Company when formed. It is intended that three Directors be appointed to manage the affairs of the Company upon its formation; the proprietors, by virtue of the large number of shares they retain, having the right to appoint one director, so long as they together hold 1400 shares in the Company; the other two directors to be chosen by the holders of the remaining 1700 shares.

It is well known that all gas companies in this colony are prosperous, even in towns where the use of gas has only recently been introduced, and the present works being complete, centrally situated, and the present work being in operation for many years, there being also an established consumption, now yielding a permanent income, unusual recommendations are offered to consumers and capitalists in the formation of the proposed Company.

Mr. H. G. Tuck, who has had the sole control of the Gas Manufactory for the last ten years, has undertaken to manage the Works of the Company gratuitously, for a term of three months from the date of its formation, if called upon to do so.

A plan of the land can be inspected, and further information obtained, at the office of the Broker, to whom all applications for shares must be addressed, in accordance with the form herewith.

Mr. J. MULLENS, 131, Pitt-street.

REPORT.

"Sydney, August 7, 1872.

"Messrs. T. and A. Cadell.

"Gentlemen,—

"At your request I have inspected the plant, buildings, stock-in-trade, &c., of the Maitland Gas Works, now the property of Messrs. Tuck and Son, and have to report that the Works are complete, and capable of supplying about 30,000 cubic feet per day, and by judicious management considerably over that quantity.

"The Works are in very good order; and I also examined the mains and services, and found them in a very good state of preservation.

"In capacity they are sufficient for a much larger supply of gas than is delivered at present.

"My opinion of the prospects of the proposed Company formed of consumers of gas and others interested in the place is, that the undertaking ought, under good and energetic management, to pay very well at a capital, say, of £15,500, £500 being set apart as working capital.

"So large a sum as £500 is not necessary as the works now stand, but it is wise to have a fund in reserve.

"I am, Gentlemen, yours obediently,
(Signed) "J. N. WARK,
"Engineer Australian Gas Light Co."

I have examined the ledgers and accounts kept by Messrs. J. W. Tuck and Son, the proprietors of the Maitland Gas Works, and find from them, that their net profits derived from the supply of gas during the twelve months preceding the date of Mr. Wark's inspection of the works, were at the rate of £1382 11s 10d per annum, or about 9 per centum per annum on the capital of the proposed Company.

own laws. We hope that legislation will effectually prevent such abuses hereafter. The termination of this dispute, however, presents the American system of reckoning in no very respectable form. The demand of Mr. SUMNER for two or three hundred millions was probably only a sinister joke, although it occupied for a whole day the attention of the Senate of America. The indirect claims were not an exaggeration, but simply an impossibility. What could not be known could not be settled by any accountant. A conquering army, like the German, could impose any burden that it was possible to bear. It might as well have been one half or double the amount, according to the conscience of the German Chancellor; but it could not be given as items representing tangible realities. We perhaps have heard the last of such demands. If England is to prevent the departure of such ships as the Alabama, America will equally resist the organization on its own territory of rebel forces to invade the country of a friendly nation.

The gentle spirit which animates certain Irish theologians has shown itself in furious riots, in the demolition of buildings, in the sacking of houses, and in the sacrifice of life. The rumour of an intended massacre on the eve of St. Bartholomew seems to have set the population in hostile array against one another. The genuine St. Bartholomew massacre was an impenetrable secret until the gun was fired as a signal. But in Ireland they kindly gave sufficient notice to convert the affair into a free fight. Thus it is that the most mournful and solemn transactions recorded by history to warn nations against the fury of bigotry become a watchword by which it is stimulated and promoted.

To turn to a more pleasant subject, Sir ROGER TICHBORNE is still pursuing the tenour of his way. As an impostor he is certainly the most marvellous example history affords. His tenacity is not indeed wonderful, for he is playing not only for a great prize, but to escape a tremendous overthrow. To suppose he will be convicted by a jury fairly chosen, and under the instructions of an impartial Judge, is to expect in his case the great principle of law will be ignored. The master of a vessel was prosecuted for asserting that he saw the biscuit baker driven by the devils into the crater of Mount Etna. Witnesses in abundance came and declared that they saw the unfortunate baker, and that the statement was true. The Judge directed the jury that, however improbable the event might appear, they could not in the face of such evidence refuse the defendant a verdict. It would be equally difficult to condemn Sir ROGER TICHBORNE, especially as the witnesses in his favour would require a large Court to hold them. We very much doubt if he will ever be put upon his trial; since the question will not be whether he is innocent, but whether any reasonable doubt in the mind of any one of the twelve jurors remains that he is guilty. That he will ever be legally recognised as Sir ROGER is another question.

The effect of the increase of precious metals on prices engaged the attention of the financial world immediately after the discoveries in California, followed as they soon were by those of Australia. Conjecture exhausted itself in supposing what would be the effect on commerce, on public debts, on the value of labour, and on the relative comfort of the several classes. All these topics are again coming under review. The immense impetus given to all affairs by the gold discovery, and the advance of knowledge in general, prevented these disastrous consequences from being rapidly consummated. But there appears to be a general impression that, though the prophecies made were unfulfilled, the reasoning upon which they were based was not unsound, and that they are likely to prove true at last.

THE select committee that inquired into the organization of the Civil Service took the evidence of some dozen witnesses, yet hardly developed anything that seemed to lay a basis for any definite recommendations as to the reorganization of the service. Some defects were disclosed, but as a rule the heads of departments examined did not speak very disparagingly of the state of affairs. They all seem to be troubled occasionally with incompetent men of whom it is very difficult to get rid, and they all admit that promotion is not in every case according to their wish, but nobody suggests any plan by which the objections could be got rid of, without introducing others of equal magnitude. The strongest complaint came from Mr. DUNCAN, who declared that when appointments rested with him, he inquired into the previous habits and character of applicants, but that he cannot do so now, as the power was taken from him some six or seven years ago, and has never been restored, the only reason assigned being that the Minister required the patronage for himself and his colleagues. Since that time a good many objectionable appointments have been made, against which he has remonstrated without effect, and without notice being taken thereof. He has no power of dismissal, and no power of promotion, and can do little more than reprimand. As Mr. DUNCAN'S action in the matter has been complicated with a political quarrel, his evidence must perhaps be taken cum grano; but he maintains that, if left to himself, he could reduce his staff without any diminution of efficiency. He expressed his conviction that the Collectorship of Customs should be made a political office, although formerly of an opposite opinion, as he thinks the TREASURER can hardly be so au fait with the business of the Department as an officer specially devoted to it would be. At present the knowledge rests with one man, and the power with another. But as Cabinets are constantly changing, every new Collector would have to learn his business, and such a change would not of itself check the evil of which Mr. DUNCAN complains, namely, that the officers of his department look to political influence for promotion.

Several witnesses were specially questioned on the relative merits of test and competitive examinations—a question which has excited an immense amount of discussion in England. The former system simply keeps out absolute incompetents; the latter determines the cleverest of the candidates, or at least the cleverest in passing examinations. On this point the evidence of Mr. TROLLOPE is interesting, because he has been for so long a time in the Civil Service, and has naturally been cognisant of the discussion in England, and of the operation of the competitive system. He was examined on the same subject before a select committee of the House of Commons in 1860. As may be readily imagined, his answers were vigorous, dogmatic, and uncompromising. He strongly supported the test examination, and as strongly deprecated the competitive. He put a low standard for the qualifications necessary for a clerk. He should write a good hand, spell, and have an adequate knowledge of arithmetic. He should be faithful, obedient, and, if possible, a gentleman. This is all that is necessary, and if he has more, he is often much the worse for it, as he gets discontented with his position. Successful competitors, when they are not mere crammers, may be competent to succeed in the professions where the average remuneration is higher than in the Civil Service. Mr. TROLLOPE admitted that the majority of English opinion was against him, but he stoutly maintained that the chance of success in an examination was proportioned to the power of cramming, and that the capacity for cramming was in an inverse proportion to the capacity for receiving instruction. But this argument carried out would go to prove that the successful crammers were not the men most likely to succeed in the professions, and therefore would have the less reason to be discontented with a humdrum situation. Moreover the introduction of very superior men into situations for which they are too good is an evil which would surely soon cure itself. Admitting that on the first introduction of a competitive system clever young men might have been stimulated to struggle for positions which were really beneath them, their discontent, if it could not be relieved by their pushing into another sphere, would operate as a warning to others with similar talents. If we were to suppose the Civil Service full of clever men, always lamenting that they had mistaken their vocation, we should suppose a state of things that would not last for ever, for clever men have opportunities of making themselves heard, and uttering their grievances. The salaries in the Civil Service are known, the method of promotion is known, and the chances and the rate of promotion are pretty well known, and therefore a clever young man knows beforehand exactly what it is he is aiming at. If he succeeds in getting it, he surely has very little ground of complaint that it is not something else.

There seems far more force in the argument that a competitive examination gives the prize to the wrong sort of talent, and keeps at bay the steady slow drudges, who would nevertheless make good useful working clerks. It should be borne in mind, however, that if the Civil Service is simply recruited from amongst men of very mediocre abilities, the higher situations would have to be filled otherwise than by promotions from the ranks, because, though many simpler qualifications may do for an under-clerk, the permanent head of a department ought to be a man of tact, discretion, quickness, judgment, and with some degree of organizing and governing talent. Long service alone will not develop these qualifications. An Under-Secretary is doubtless all the better for having climbed the ladder, but merely climbing the ladder will not make a good Under-Secretary.

Dr. BADHAM, who was also examined, differed in some respects from Mr. TROLLOPE. He, too, has had considerable English experience, having been an examiner for the Civil Service Commissioners, as well as for the London University. He favours the system of competitive examination, and altogether denies that cramming is so successful when examiners understand their business. Professor PELL and himself are the examiners for the Civil Service at present, but the test examination to which they have to subject the candidates is of so slight a character, that he does not seem to think it really of much value.

Mr. TROLLOPE was also questioned as to the expediency of employing women in the Public Service, and while he does not deprecate it he does not encourage it. His own impression, he said, was that the proper employment of a young woman was to get married. This was a very natural view for a novelist to take, and one from which most young women will probably not dissent. The alleged inferiority of women he explained on the ground that men look to employment for their permanent livelihood, while women only look to it as a temporary resource till they get married, and therefore never fully render themselves up to it. Dr. BADHAM expressed somewhat similar sentiments.

PROVINCIAL SYNOD.—The Provincial Synod of the Protestant Episcopal Church met yesterday, pursuant to adjournment. The adjourned debate on the Church Act was concluded. On division, the motion was amended in the manner proposed by Mr. Wilson, and the motion as amended was passed without division. Mr. Chancellor Gordon proposed to withdraw his motion relating to the appointment of bishops, whereupon objection was raised, a discussion ensued, and a motion to adjourn till Monday was put and carried at 5 minutes to 10.

THE MARINE BOARD ACT.—A somewhat important decision was given yesterday, by the Supreme Court in Banco, in the matter of an application for a mandamus directed to the Marine Board of New South Wales. A person had applied for a "certificate of service" under the 74th section of the Act, providing for the granting of such certificates to masters, mates, and engineers who have served in either capacity prior to the operation of the statute. The certificate sought was that of a master of a coast-trade vessel; and while it was not denied that the applicant had served in that capacity, and that he had forwarded the particulars required by the Act, the Board withheld the certificate upon the assumption that they had a discretionary power, and that the applicant was not a person to whom they would be justified in granting the document sought for. The effect of such a "certificate of service" would be to enable the holder to continue in the exercise of his vocation without having undergone the examinations, &c., required in other cases. The Judges (Sir Alfred Stephen, C. J., Mr. Justice Hargrave, and Mr. Justice Faucett) held that in such cases the Board had no option; and that provided they were satisfied that the applicant really had served as a master or otherwise (according to the case), they must grant him the certificate of service he desired.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the committee was held on Thursday afternoon, at the Brigade Office, Lieutenant-Colonel Richardson in the chair. The programme for the next annual meeting was partially gone through, and its further consideration postponed to Friday, 27th instant. It was announced that Mr. MacDonnell, of George-street, had given a prize, value £7 7s., for the Merchants' Match, and that a Mayor and Aldermen's prize would also be given. Lieutenant-Colonel Richardson also gives special prizes to the value of £30. Some conversation took place with regard to the supply of ammunition, and the secretaries were instructed to inquire whether the Government would supply ammunition to the competitors free of charge. It has been resolved to admit the New South Wales Infantry and Artillery to several of the matches, and in alluding to the matter Lieutenant-Colonel Richardson thanked the committee, on behalf of that force, for the concession, which he thought would tend still more to cement the friendly feeling which he knew existed between the Volunteers and the newly raised military force.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—A Mr. Caldwell and his wife, related to Mr. J. Gregson, of Albury (says the Banner) met their death by the upsetting of a boat in the river at Mitta Mitta. It appears that Mr. Caldwell had to cross the river to attend some temperance meeting on Thursday last, and the boat by some means got capsized. The affair is very melancholy, inasmuch as the parents had left five young children at home, and those children were left all alone until the Saturday, when the neighbours became acquainted of the occurrence. The body of Mrs. Caldwell has been found, but we have not learnt whether Mr. Caldwell's has.

BALMAIN.—A musical and literary entertainment, in connection with the choir of the Presbyterian Church, was given on Tuesday evening last, in the schoolroom; the Rev. James Cook, M.A., in the chair. The room was filled by a highly respectable audience. The programme consisted of solos, duets, vocal and instrumental; also part songs, glees, and recitations, which were rendered in a highly creditable manner, many of the pieces being rapturously encored.

ILLAWARRA AND MONARO.—Most of our readers have perused with pleasure the interesting notices printed in this journal from time to time, relating to the districts of Illawarra and Monaro. Many will be glad to learn that they are now published in a small volume containing about 150 pages. The author (Mr. District Judge M'Farland) says in his preface to the book:—"I have long thought that the best account of New South Wales would be supplied by a series of papers, carefully compiled, but written in a plain, familiar style, by different persons (having an accurate knowledge of the subject), and each descriptive of one of our great provinces, or districts—its physical features, climate, and people, past and present—its first explorers and pioneer settlers—its squattages, flocks and herds—its products, mines and minerals, manufactures and capabilities—the laws, institutions and government that affect it—its towns, villages, and homes—sports and pastimes—birds and beasts, &c., &c. An amount of varied information, interesting detail, and graphic picture, would thus be presented that could be procured in no other way, and be worth a dozen 'Blue Books' It would also convey an idea of our colonial life—its pursuits, aspirations, and character—that has never yet been conveyed; for the account would be accurate, real, and faithful, and reflect "the spirit of the soil" as well. The following is a description of one of those districts, and of one of those provinces. May it be received as a contribution to such a work." The printers are Messrs. Cunninghame and Co. The publisher is Mr. William Maddock, of George-street.

SUPPOSED DEATH BY DROWNING.—At about 11 o'clock on Saturday, 14th instant (the Wagga Express relates) Mr. William Walsh of this town, met a fencer named Burt, in the employ of Mr Leitch, of Berry Jerry, riding towards the station. He was about a mile from the station, and when returning about 4 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. Walsh saw the horse riderless and bearing all the marks of having been in the water. He caught the horse, brought it on to the Cross Roads and then sent it with a message to Berry Jerry. A search has since been instituted, but without effect, except the discovery of Burt's hat, and at the usual crossing place of a kind of sand-branch of the Old Man Creek, tracks were discovered leading slightly below the ordinary crossing which is marked by a tree. These tracks led to a deep water-worn part of the creek, and it is conjectured with considerable reason that Burt entered the water at this spot, and had been drowned. Every effort to recover the body has been made by Mr. Leitch, who has had a wire drag-net prepared for the purpose. The fact of Burt being about to be married adds to the melancholy nature of the event.

SUICIDE.—The Ballarat Courier states that the dead and decomposed body of a respectably-dressed man was found yesterday afternoon in a mining tunnel at Spring-hill, near Creswick. A terrible gash in the throat of the deceased revealed the cause of death, and a razor lying by his side, covered with blood, furnished evidence that he had probably died from his own hand—a belief which was strengthened by further discoveries made by constable Daly. It seems that about three weeks ago some boys who were playing in the tunnel (which had been formerly worked by Morris and Molyneaux) came upon the dead body of a man, lying in the position in which it was eventually found, about 300 feet up the tunnel. The boys, who were frightened, went home and told their parents, by whom the story was considered to be so improbable that no heed was given to it until yesterday, when a resident of Creswick, Mr. Thomas Jacobs, determined to investigate the matter. On exploring the tunnel he found the body as described by the boys, and he immediately gave information to constable Daly. Close by the deceased the latter found a parcel of clothes, including a large black overcoat, a zoo coat, a black hat with a hat string and bone whistle attached, a black necktie, red and grey muffler, and a new paper collar. These articles were folded up and placed in a supplement of the Argus, dated 26th July, and on the margin of the paper was written—"In my pocket you will find belonging to me £21 14s. 3d., hard-earned money." The constable searched the pockets of the trousers worn by deceased, and found the amount stated in the left hand pocket, and in the right hand a meerschaum pipe (in case). The pipe was gold mounted, and on the mounting was engraved, "From R. G. to T. N." On deceased's little finger of the left hand was a gold ring with dark stone. He had on lace-up boots, performed at the toe pieces; tweed trousers with stripes down the side; a cross-barred check crimean shirt, and white under flannel. In appearance he was a man of about 35 years of age, stout build, 5 feet 9 inches in height, and of reddish complexion, with whiskers, braid, and moustache. As yet nothing is known as to the identity of the deceased; but the inquest will be held at noon on Tuesday.

TAX ON STOCK CROSSING THE MURRAY.—The collection of wharfage rates on cattle and other stock crossing the Murray from Victoria into New South Wales (says the Argus) has been stopped. The Chief Secretary received on Friday the following telegram from the Colonial Secretary, New South Wales:—"Sydney, September 13, 1872.—Your letter of the 5th September, respecting the charge of wharfage on live stock into this colony from Victoria was not received until this morning. This administration was not aware that the charge was made, and on receipt of your letter instructions were at once sent to all customs stations on the border to discontinue the collection.—Colonial Secretary." It is curious that a tax which has often been protested against on this side of the Murray should have been levied for many months without the knowledge of the New South Wales Government.

THE LATE MADAME SANDERSON.—A Melbourne journal states that the remains of Madame Sanderson, brought by her husband, Mr. Henry Sanderson, of Melbourne, from Sydney, per City of Adelaide, were conveyed to her late residence, 7, Gleeson-terrace, Fitzroy, whence the cortège proceeded at 3 p.m. to the Melbourne Cemetery, and the body was interred in the family grave. The chief mourners were her husband, father, sister, and other relatives, and the pall-bearers were Dr. Livingston, Messrs. S. H. Marsh, Hugh J. Browne, J. Garton, John Whiteman, M.L.A., J. H. Muir, John King, and J. Mark. The funeral, accompanied by many private carriages, was joined by a large number of friends and members of the profession to which deceased belonged. Madame Sanderson was a favourite vocalist in Melbourne, and had only lately gone on a professional engagement to Sydney.

A HUGE CASTING.—The Melbourne Age states that an exciting operation was performed in presence of a large number of spectators, including a few ladies, at Fulton's foundry, on the Yarra Bank, on Saturday afternoon. It was no less than the casting of the second of the two enormous driving wheels intended for the pumping apparatus of the new graving dock at Williamstown. The first was cast about a fortnight ago very successfully, being produced without a flaw, and, from the manner in which the moulding of the second was accomplished on Saturday, there is little doubt but it will turn out equally perfect. These wheels are termed bevel mortise wheels, and are each twelve feet diameter and four-inch pitch. They are to constitute the driving wheels of two engines of 300-horse power combined, for working a couple of large centrifugal pumps for emptying the dock after the reception of a vessel. When at speed the wheels will make sixty revolutions a minute, and it is calculated that the pumping apparatus will dry the dock in two hours and a half. The weight of the completed wheel is six tons, but a deal of waste has to be allowed for, and the quantity required for the casting cannot be much less than ten tons. It consequently takes a considerable time to prepare, and the two furnaces were kept busy for several hours, the fiery liquid being stowed away in three immense bu kets. When all were filled they were moved by a travelling crane to the mould, and all poured in at once at different places. The scene was too much for the nerves of some of the ladies, one of whom fainted right away. A few seconds sufficed to fill the mould, and the casting was pronounced to have been a success. In about a week it will be ready for fitting.

PROMISING YOUTHS.—The following case is reported in the Melbourne Argus of Monday:—A small pistol without a stock, but having a small rusty barrel, and a lock to match, was produced in the City Court on Saturday as evidence against a boy named Henry, alias William Blackmore, alias Williams, who was charged with being in a public place with intent to commit a felony. Evidence was given by a little boy that, while he was walking about outside the shop of Messrs. Marcus, drapers, corner of Russell and Bourke streets, in whose employment he was, the prisoner came up to him, put the pistol to his head, and mentioned that he was going to shoot him. The pistol was empty, and the spring of the hammer was not strong enough to enable the hammer to explode a cap; but the little boy did not know this, and put his arm across his eyes in imitation of the catch which, to escape the hunters's notice, buries its head in the sand. While he was thus unable to see, and waiting for the fatal shot, two other boys, confederates of the prisoner, stole a pair of trousers and ran away. The little boy had been placed outside the shop to prevent petty thefts from the doorways, but the thieves resorted to strategy, and were successful to a certain extent.

GRENFELL.—A juvenile concert, in aid of the Public School, held on Thursday evening last, was very successful. More than a hundred persons were unable to obtain admission. The proceeds of the concert amounted to £56.

THE OPERA.—The success of the past three weeks has induced the directors of the present opera company to announce another subscription season, which will commence on the 30th instant. Meyerbeer's grand opera, "Robert l' Diable" and "Les Huguenots" are included in the forthcoming season. Last evening Signora Zenoni gave her powerful rendering of "Norma." The opera all through was quite as successful as on its first representation this season, and called forth the warmest acknowledgments from the audience—the "De Conte" and "Mrs. o Norma," by Zenoni and Signora Coy eliciting as it deserved an enthusiastic encore. The continual change of opera and artistes who sustain the leading characters, keep up a sound of novelty which has proved very attractive; and in this respect the company has been enhanced, as each artist has his or her admirers. The English opera proper is to be produced this evening in Balfe's "Satanella." It is many years since this work was produced in Sydney. The music was then much liked, and those colonists who saw it in London when it was produced by Miss Pyne and Mr. Harrison, will remember the successful run it had at the time.

CORRECTION.—In a telegram which appeared on the 12th instant notifying the appointment of a territorial magistrate for Victoria, the name of the gentleman appointed was misspelt "Mutchell." It should have been Mr. R. B. "Mitchell" of Balmain.

ARREST AT WAGGA.—The Express of Wednesday says:—People who were "doing the block" at too very unfashionable hour in the morning when the Deniliquin coach arrives, were surprised to see a gentlemanly-looking man tapped upon the shoulder by sergeant Carroll immediately upon alighting from the vehicle. The gentlemanly-looking man protested that he was a Sydney merchant, and seemed to entertain strong objections to the course prescribed by his capturer of accompanying him to the lock-up. He is arrested under the name of Hamburger, charged upon warrant with conspiracy to defraud.

TWO DEATHS BY DROWNING.—We (Wagga Express) regret to record the deaths by drowning of Mr. Henry Shadowsky, an old and well-known resident in this town, and a man named Bourke, who was in the employ of Mr. M. Higgins up to the time of the fatal occurrence, which took place upon the river near the Belmore Inn, Lower Gammain, of which house Mr. Shadowsky was in charge. It appears that about 9 o'clock on Monday morning he rowed over the river to bring across two men, who were upon the other side. One of these was safely landed upon the Gammain side, and the other was Bourke, for whom Mr. Shadowsky subsequently returned, who had with him some luggage (a box and a bag), which was deposited in the boat with them. The next thing the man upon the opposite side saw was the boat capsized, and the luggage in question floating upon the water, but no sign of either man. It is thought that the boat was somewhat light for the unusual load which it carried, and capsized in consequence. The men upon the bank gave the alarm, and Mr. B. Keighran, with a blackfellow in his employment, and W. Grey, in the employment of Mr Dallas, were soon upon the spot, and ready to render assistance in the event of any indications as to the whereabouts of the men. Mr. Shadowsky was always reputed an excellent swimmer, and the only way in which his fate is to be accounted for, is that Bourke, who was unable to swim, had clung to him, and taken him under immediately upon the mishap. The police proceeded to the scene of the catastrophe, but all attempts to recover the bodies have as yet proved fruitless.

THE BORDER DIFFICULTY.—In referring to a public meeting about to take place in Albury, urging the separation of Riverina from New South Wales, the Banner says:—We trust that the credulous will not be led away by any pictured benefits which are likely to accrue from separation. Let one and all thoroughly understand this matter before they commit themselves to the petition which is about to be presented to the meeting. We have always been opposed to separation, and as yet we can see no reason to justify us in altering our opinions. By those engaged in the task of stimulating and directing the current of opinion in Riverina it should be borne in mind that in case of a petition to the Home Government being resolved upon, we should by positive statement of the remedy, as well as the grievance, only provoke a fruitless issue to our endeavours. It is but a necessary logical process we are seeking certain ends which can only be attained by diplomatic means. In diplomacy certain phrases, idioms, and formalities are necessary, and we must either conform to these rules, or suffer from the ignoring of them. In agreement upon main points as we are, it is surely possible to concur upon a minor point. The matter is simply the omission of a line; nay, it is merely a question of one word—namely, the prayer for 'consideration' or 'remedy,' in lieu of 'separation.' For the advocates of the last it is not much to yield, but it may lead to a very great gain."

A CUSTOMS SEIZURE ON THE BORDER.—The Albury Banner says—A Chinaman was caught in endeavouring to cheat the Customs revenue, in the following way: The Chinaman had a box of miscellaneous non-dutiable goods, and when he came to the Custom-house, said he had nothing dutiable packed therein; and proffered to open the box to the inspection of the officers, and accordingly turned each article over; but there was one little parcel which attracted the officer's eye, very nicely concealed in dried orange-peel, and inside of this package of orange-peel was found about a pound and a half of opium. The goods were therefore seized.

THE COMMISSION ON THE FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE IN VICTORIA.—The final report of the Royal Commission on foot and mouth disease (says the Daily Telegraph) has been forwarded to the Chief Secretary for presentation to his Excellency. The commission have framed regulations for the inspection and charge of cattle arriving in the colony. The commission recommend the establishment of two quarantine grounds—one at Duck Island for animals suffering from disease, and the other at Sandridge for animals not diseased; that all diseased animals imported to this colony be removed into quarantine upon Duck Island, and there remain until it has been certified by competent professional opinion that they are free from disease, and incapable of communicating disease; such period of quarantine to be in no case less than three months, unless the owner of such cattle shall prefer to destroy them under the supervision of the inspector appointed under these regulations. Penalty for landing cattle without authority, not less than £100, nor more than £500 per head. Some of the commissioners recommended a six months' quarantine.

MR. CHARLES NATHAN, F.R.C.S.

OUR obituary records the removal of Mr. Charles Nathan, an event which multitudes will receive with regret, and many with sorrow. He has long been familar to the eye of our citizens, pursuing his laborious profession. His bright and pleasant countenance was seen in all quarters of this city, where his professional duties called him by night and by day. Long established, the circle of his patients included many settled families, with whom he had been familiar as the sympathising adviser and cordial friend. Many who have grown to maturity include his name and professional labours among their earliest recollections. Hundreds have had the consolations of his presence in the most solemn events of life, and in the most awful crisis of their domestic experience. Those who knew the kindness and tenderness of his heart will feel that it is no exaggeration to say that he rejoiced with those who did rejoice, and wept with the mourners. For many years he was constantly in attendance upon the public hospital, and willingly gave the advantage of his superior surgical skill to the poor. This he often did independently of hospital arrangements, and without fee or reward. Although patients among the poor sometimes forget that the attendance of a medical man consumes time, and is therefore costly to him, and on slight occasions are accustomed to demand his aid, Mr. Nathan, in every real case requiring his attendance, gave the invaluable results of his many years' experience and knowledge. It is true that these acts of beneficence are common to every respectable practitioner. The night-lamp which denotes their residence is often the star of hope to many a wounded spirit. The bed of pestilence and want is often visited by them alone, and out of their own resources they often have to supply relief to those who are ready to perish. Mr. Nathan ever recognised the obligations of humanity, and afforded his help to those who could make no return. It was in this spirit he cheerfully gave his aid to the missionary returned with broken health from a pestilential climate, or to the poor minister, whose income made medical attendance a question of serious concern. We believe that his benevolence in this form was unlimited, and that his memory will be cherished by many of all sects whom he thus relieved from a heavy charge. Mr. Nathan was held by his brethren in high esteem. However he might differ, he never quarrelled. He disarmed envy by the genuine brotherliness of his spirit. His high attainments in that branch of the profession best appreciated by its members was so undoubted and decided that they silenced the insolence of detraction, and left the opinion of his equals a quiet and undisputed dominion. There were few who would not have assigned him the second place on the roll of our medical men, and still fewer who would have been disposed to dispute his title to the first. Most places have witnessed occasionally the fierce animosities aroused by professional jealousy and injustice; but never did they find mixed with such hostilities our departed friend. Mr. Nathan valued the pleasures of society when his pressing duties permitted him to enjoy them. The love of music was an hereditary passion. Nothing gratified him more than to unite with a number of amateurs of similar taste, and to contribute and share in those heavenly harmonies left by the great masters of music and song. All his pleasures were of a pure, social, and elevating character; and, while they did not obstruct his more serious labours, calmed and refreshed his spirit. Every man is better for having some pursuit apart from his profession, which may employ his leisure without obstructing his duty. Mr. Nathan, in early life, had to win his own way. We have heard him say that from thirteen years of age he had to gain his own bread. It is easy to see what personal merit he must have possessed to mount the steep to professional reputation; that he must have had capacity and perseverance; that his conduct must have won those facilities which smooth the path, and often make the self-taught man of genius the superior of those who have been favoured with all the aids that fortune can procure. Such men become more robust in intellect, more self-reliant, and therefore more successful than those who have never known a rugged path. It was so with Dr. Nathan, who was sure in all his advances, and felt that his reputation was not ephemeral, but well-founded and lasting. Our departed friend, we fear, was a martyr to the profession of which he was an ornament. Some time ago he performed an operation, and by an accidental wound became exposed to a poisonous contact. After some surgical remedies the wound healed; but the virus seems to have lodged in the system, and gradually produced that constitutional depression from the consequences of which he has sunk. The intense pressure of his profession prevented him having recourse to remedies which he would himself have prescribed, and he therefore fell a victim to that which annually destroys multitudes of precious lives—of men overworked by incessant toil in the same routine, unable to find substitutes who can supply their place, and who are therefore impelled onward until nature can bear no more.

We repeat, that many will hear with regret, and some with grief, the death of this good man, whose inoffensive and useful life was not darkened by a single noticeable stain. He has left a numerous family, who will inherit an honoured reputation. Its influence will shed itself over their career. True, that bourn to which he is gone is the land of forgetfulness, and it extends far the shadows of oblivion. But our deceased friend was a Christian, and knew all this. He committed his family in confidence to the Great Father of all, whose care is the subject of promise to all who believe. In this faith he lived and died. To have known him long and intimately is to have one more pleasant memory overshadowed with cypress; but "the memory of the just is blessed."

The Directors of the Australian Mutual Provident Society met as usual yesterday afternoon, when a resolution was adopted deeply deploring the death of their excellent vice-chairman, Mr. Charles Nathan, and expressing to Mrs. Nathan and the family of the deceased, sincere and affectionate sympathy in their great loss. The Board then adjourned.

Mr. Nathan's final illness was not protracted. He relinquished his practice some five or six weeks ago, and died yesterday, at noon.

Mr. Nathan practised his profession upwards of thirty years, and at the time of his death had attained the fifty-sixth year of his age. During the long period of his residence in this city he gave the invaluable assistance of his great talents to many public institutions. To the Sydney Infirmary more particularly has he rendered eminent services; and he acted as honorary surgeon of the Sydney Female Refuge from the date of its establishment. He took an active interest in educational as well as philanthropic movements, and as a member of the Senate of the Sydney University and a Fellow of St. Paul's College participated in the government of those institutions.

THE LATE COMMANDER SMITH, R.N.—In reference to a paragraph copied from the Mount Alexander Mail, recording the death of Commander Smith, R.N., a correspondent writes:—"Lieutenant A. J. Smith, R.N., was never in charge of the Observatory at Hobart Town, as he had Captain Kay, R.N., Lieutenant Damond, and Lieutenant Simpkinson as senior officers during his stay. Sir John Franklin did not command any Australian or Antarctic expedition, but went out to Tasmania as Governor; therefore, Lieutenant Smith did not go out with Sir John, as stated. Commander Smith, R.N., was not with the Erebus and Terror in the Arctic expedition, as not one of the crew of either ship ever again reached the civilized world. Commander Smith was, however, a distinguished officer, and did much for science and for his country. He was also an amiable good man in every way."

LAW.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 20.

SITTINGS IN BANCO.

BEFORE Sir ALFRED STEPHEN, C.J., Mr. Justice HARGRAVE, and Mr. Justice FAUCETT.

IN RE MOSELY, GENTLEMAN, ONE, &c.

Mr. HENRY STEPHEN moved to make absolute a rule nisi calling upon the respondent, an attorney, &c., of the Court to pay over certain moneys in his hands. The rule nisi had been served, but no steps had been taken towards a termination of proceedings.

Rule absolute, with costs.

EX PARTE HUDSON AND OTHERS—TO SET ASIDE DEED.

This was an application under the 7th section of the Insolvency Act, to set aside a certain deed executed by one G. R. Rigby, an insolvent, a short time before the sequestration of his estate.

Mr. Darley appeared in support of the application; Mr. Henry Stephen for the insolvent.

On the 15th September, 1871, proceedings were instituted against Rigby by the present applicants—Hudson, Brothers—for the recovery of a debt due to them. On the 23rd January last a rule nisi for the sequestration of Rigby's estate was granted; and this, on the 15th February following, was made absolute. On the 24th April insolvent was examined before the Chief Commissioner, and admitted that, after Hudson, Brothers, had commenced the proceedings against him, which resulted in his insolvency, he had by a certain bill of sale dispossed of all his property to his brother, Charles Rigby, a resident in Melbourne. This deed had been given in satisfaction of a bona fide debt, owing by insolvent to his brother for an advance of about £150, made by the latter some three years ago. It was also admitted that at the time the bill of sale was given there had been two other creditors, besides the brother of the assignor. It was contended that the bill of sale had been an absolute assignment of the whole of insolvent's property; and that it ought to be rescinded under the 7th section of the Act, which provides that deeds causing an alienation after debts have been contracted, and within twelve months after the commission of an act of insolvency, may be set aside upon summary application. Upon the other hand, it was urged that the case did not come within the 7th section, but was provided for by the 8th, which enacts that alienations and transfers made by persons in insolvent circumstances or in contemplation of insolvency, shall be absolutely void. The assignee of the estate might institute such proceedings as were deemed advisable for the recovery of the transferred goods; and it would then be determined whether the deed were good or not. It was further argued that the bill of sale had been given for valuable consideration. But, as against this, it was contended that valuable consideration under the section must be such as actually passed at the time the deed was executed.

Their HONORS were unanimous in holding that the application could not be sustained. The deed here had, so far as the Court was advised, been given for valuable consideration, namely, for money borrowed by insolvent from his brother; it was, therefore, clearly outside section 7, which, as it gave a summary jurisdiction, must be construed with great caution. The argument that the consideration for such a deed must be a present one, was clearly erroneous, and was, in reality, tantamount to importing into the section words not contained in it.

Application refused with costs.

IN RE SUMMERBELL—MANDAMUS, MARINE BOARD ACT.

This was an application upon rule nisi for a writ of mandamus having as its object the compulsion of the Marine Board of New South Wales to grant to Mr. Thomas Summerbell a "certificate of service" as a master of a coast-trade vessel, under the third branch of the 74th section of the Marine Board Act (35 Victoria, No. 7) commonly known as the Navigation Act.

Mr. Henry Stephen and Mr. O'Keefe appeared in support of the application; the Solicitor-General showed cause against it.

By the third branch of the 74th section of the Act it is provided that every person who before the 2nd April, 1872, has served as master of a coast-trade ship shall be entitled to a certificate as a master; each of such certificates to contain particulars of the name, place, and date of birth, and length and nature of the previous service of the person to whom it is delivered. It is further provided that the Marine Board shall deliver such certificates upon proof of the qualifications and previous service of the applicants; and upon having received a full and satisfactory account as aforesaid. The 73rd section provides for the awarding of "certificates of competency" to masters, mates, and engineers; applicants for such certificates being required to furnish evidence of their sobriety, experience, and general good conduct on board ship, and the Board being empowered to grant or refuse the certificates upon being satisfied as to matters before mentioned. It was contended that the object clearly was, that the rights of persons who had, prior to the operation of the Act, served in the capacity of master or otherwise (according to the certificate sought) should not be prejudiced. Such persons were not required to produce any certificate of competency or to pass any examination; their rights were reserved, and they were entitled to a certificate of service for the time they had actually served. In the present case, Mr. Summerbell had applied for a certificate of service as master of a coast-trade ship, and he had forwarded certain certificates and testimonials which were afterwards returned. The Board, upon considering the application, came to the conclusion that the character and nature of Summerbell's previous services were such as showed him to be a fit and proper person to hold a certificate of service, and to justify them in granting such certificate. It was not denied that the applicant really had served as master of a vessel, and that he had furnished the Board with the requisite particulars; but they held (erroneously as it was contended) that they were entitled to consider how far such particulars were sufficient. It was maintained, however, that the Board were not empowered to take it into consideration whether the evidence before them showed that the applicant was a fit and proper person to hold a certificate of service: their duties being simply to determine whether he was entitled to such certificate. Upon the other hand it was contended that the Board had a discretionary power to grant or withhold certificates of service, according to the merits of the case. The 19th section was quoted, empowering the Board to consider all matters of service and competency.

Their HONORS were unanimous in making the rule absolute. The CHIEF JUSTICE said that it was a matter of the greatest possible importance that none but persons of competence should be entrusted with the navigation of vessels. But the Legislature had clearly distinguished between "certificates of competency" and "certificates of service." The former could only be granted upon examination; but that was not the case with the latter. The Legislature might have distinguished between persons who had only served for a month, a week, or a day, and those who had had the experience of years; but no such line of demarcation had been drawn. It would seem very hard if a person who had served ten years should be refused his certificate, while, in the case of one who had served only a very short time, such a decision would not appear oppressive. However, the words of the Act and the construction to be placed upon them plainly showed that a person who had served was entitled to a certificate of such service. He was required to furnish a full account of his service, and it was inserted in the certificate issued, so that persons might satisfy themselves of the actual experience and qualifications of masters, &c., holding such documents. There were also in the Act provisions for cancelling or suspending certificates in case of incompetency; and it would seem that under section 88 the Board had power to inquire, if necessary, into the conduct of holders of certificates of service, and to suspend or cancel them. That, however, did not touch the present question, and he (the Chief Justice) thought the Board were bound to grant the certificate required.—Mr. Justice HARGRAVE concurred. He considered that a certificate of service was an infinitely better guarantee of qualification than could be afforded by any examination merely. Under the 76th section, shipowners were liable to a penalty of £50 for permitting their ships to go to sea in charge of uncertificated officers. The Board had clearly mistaken their functions.—Mr. Justice FAUCETT concurred. In regard to the relative value of certificates of competency and certificates of service, he thought he should prefer a captain who, having obtained a certificate of competency, had seen some service. In this case a certificate clearly ought to have been granted, and the Board had mistaken their duties.

Rule made absolute.

The CHIEF JUSTICE desired to intimate, for the information of members of the Board, several of whom he saw in Court, that a most valuable statute had, within the last few months, been enacted in England, awarding to a Marine Board the power to inspect a vessel, and decide whether she was fit to go to sea or not; and rendering any person taking an unseaworthy vessel out to sea, or permitting her to be so taken, guilty of a misdemeanour.

STEWART V. PAGE—REFERENCE FROM CHAMBERS.

This was an application on behalf of plaintiff in the above action, to rescind or vary an order made in Chambers by Mr. Justice Hargrave.

The Attorney-General and Mr. Henry Stephen appeared in support of the application; Mr. Darley showed cause against it.

The order appealed against had been, substantially, to the effect that proceedings in the action should be stayed pending the production by the plaintiff of three bills of exchange for the respective sums of £1000, £700, and £500, which bills of exchange had been declared upon. It had been averred by the defendant that pleas could not be drawn unless his counsel had an opportunity of inspecting the bills. It was now sought to rescind or vary the order upon the ground that, as the bills were not in plaintiff's possession and he was unable to obtain them, he ought not to be stayed from proceeding with his action.

Their HONORS made an interim order, under section 19 of the Common Law Procedure Act, for the examination of witnesses before Commissioners, prior to giving a decision.

JACOB AND WIFE V. HOLDING—TO CHANGE VENUE.

This was an application on behalf of defendant to change the venue in this action from Sydney to Maitland.

Sir James Martin, Q.C., and Mr. Windeyer, appeared in support of the application; Mr. Attorney-General and Mr. Salomons opposed it.

The action was for the recovery of damages for an alleged libel; and the grounds upon which the applications were made were, that a change of venue would be a saving of expense, and would ensure a speedier administration of justice, inasmuch as the next Circuit Court in Maitland will be held in October, while there will be no nisi prius sittings in Sydney before November next. There had been a similar application made in Chambers prior to the last Sydney sittings for causes, and it had been refused by Mr. Justice Hargrave upon the ground that the plaintiffs would have an earlier opportunity of clearing their character if the case were tried in the city. The action however went over. It was urged in opposition to the application that the plaintiffs would be much more likely to obtain an impartial hearing in Sydney than in Maitland, where the action had been freely discussed, and had given rise to a good deal of party feeling.

Their HONORS refused to grant the application. While they considered that the case could be tried equally well in one place as in the other, there would be little or no saving of time, and as the plaintiff had laid the venue in Sydney, they did not think that under all circumstances it ought to be changed.

Application discharged, costs to be costs in the cause.

A general meeting of the shareholders of the A. S. N. Company was held this afternoon to consider resolutions authorising the extension of the company's trade as published in the Herald of the 11th instant. After some discussion, the following amended resolutions were carried:—"That, for the purpose of executing any mail or other service that may be entered into in connexion with the Australian colonies, the vessels of this company may be dispatched to and may trade between such ports and places in and bordering upon the Indian and Pacific Oceans as may be found necessary for due performance of such service. That the Board of Directors are hereby authorised to tender on behalf of the Company for the conveyance of mails between the Australian colonies and California on the basis of an adequate subsidy, and that, in the event of the tender of the company being accepted, the Board of Directors shall call a general meeting of the shareholders to approve or otherwise the financial and other arrangements which the directors may recommend to be taken thereupon." These resolutions will have to be confirmed by a special general meeting of shareholders.

Private telegrams from England, received via Adelaide this morning, are very satisfactory to importers, and have caused a firmer feeling in the markets. The month's shipments to this port are less than might have been anticipated from the improved tone of advices sent home for several months past. There is an increase in bar and galvanized iron, while plate, hoop, and sheet show a considerable decrease. Spirits are in excess of the previous month's advices, beer considerably less. Salt, candles, and currants also short. There was inquiry for several articles to-day, but holders were not disposed to do business pending the receipt of the Bangalore's mail, which may be looked for on Monday morning. Bottled ale advanced a little, sales of Tennant's at 11s. Byass's porter, 10s.; Martell's dark brandy sold at 6s. 7½d. with a hardening tendency. There was inquiry for currants, and good fruit has advanced to 5d. Business during the week has been better, with indications of a further improvement. The rush of population to Northern Queensland has induced a demand for goods suitable for a mining community. Flour has not altered, and buyers merely supplying immediate requirements until later news is to hand from San Francisco. The cargo of Mauritius sugars ex Lady Denison, offered at Messrs. Stubbs and Co.'s rooms to-day, brought full prices. Nearly the whole of the cargo has been cleared at from £36 to £42 15s. Teas have been moving steadily; the Mary Blair's cargo will be sold under the hammer next week. A private telegram from Foochow reports exports to the colonies 4¼ million lbs. Markets unchanged. No vessels sailed since Mary Blair left. Six vessels loading. Exchange unaltered. News from Shanghai of a speculative movement in coals, consequent upon news of a rise in England, is encouraging to colonial colliery proprietors.

MINING.

FRIDAY EVENING.

NEWS from England of a fall in the value of copper had a prejudicial effect on Peak Downs shares this morning, which, after selling at 6¼ and 6, were offered at 5¾. Cowfat sold at 30s., more offered. Coal shares in better demand; 9 refused for Wallsend, 7 for Waratah, and 32s. 6d. for Shale Oil. Gold shares were dull on 'Change, but later in the day there was more inquiry for Tambaroora companies. Beyers and Holtermans realised 48s. to 48s. 6d.; Krohmans held for 49s. A sale of Dayspring at 13s. 6d., buyers at 14s. Grenfell Consols were reported to have changed hands at 16s. 6d., sellers asking par, buyers offering 18s. Hixson, Creighton, and Beard weaker, 20s. cum div. accepted; Hustler's "pups" moved with their usual eccentricity. Yesterday they could not find a market at 54s.; to-day 60s. was refused, holders asking 5s. more. Tin shares quiet; Queensland were operated in at 5s. to 5s. 6d.; Ruby Creek pro. 13s.

The course of sales for the past week has been:—Cowfat copper, 30s.; Mount Perry, 32s. 6d.; Normanby, 15s.; Peak Downs, 6¾, 6¾, 6¾, 6¼, 6; Peelwood, 10s.; Welca, 10s., 9s. 6d., 9s., 9s. 9d., 10s.; Great Australian Gold pro. 20s., con. 12s. 6d.; British Lion, 32s. 6d.; Browns, 20s., 18s. 9d., 19s.; Beyers and Holtermanns, 48s., 48s. 6d., 49s., 49s. 6d., 48s. 6d., 48s. 9d., 49s., 48s., 48s. 6d.; Carroll, Beard, and Co's, 27s., 28s. 6d., 29s.; Hill End (3s. 6d. paid), 4s. 6d.; Dayspring, 16s. 9d., 15s., 16s., 15s., 13s. 6d.; Grenfell Consols, 19s., 16s. 6d.; Heffernans, 25s.; Krohmanns, 49s., 49s. 6d., 48s. 9d., 49s., 48s. 9d., 49s.; Paxtons, 18s. 6d., 17s. 6d.; Rapp and Co.s, 17s. 6d., 18s., 17s. 6d., 17s., 17s. 9d.; Hickson, Creighton, and Beards, 20s.; Band and Albion (Ballarat), 5, 4¾; Hustler's Tributes, 63s., 62s.; South Star, No. 3, pro. 14s. 6d., con. (3s. paid), 4s.; Great Western Undaunted, 11s., 12s. 6d.; Elsmore Tin, pro. 30s.; Pioneer, 6s. 6d.; Ruby, 5s., 5s. 3d., c. d.; Queensland, 5s., 5s. 3d., cum. div., 5s., 5s. 6d.; Ruby Creek, pro. 13s.; Sydney, 6s.; Rex, (2s. paid), 2s. 9d.

Messrs. Fahey and Co. report having sold by auction, to-day, 1000 Daysprings at 15s., 200 ditto at 15s. 6d., 100 Beyers and Holtermans at 48s. 3d., 20 Rapps at 17s., 50 Grenfell Consols at 19s. 1 Comet at £11 12s. 6d., 4 ditto at £10 10s., with several small lots at average prices.

The share list of No. 1 North Prussian Reef, Grenfell, closed to-day, in terms of prospectus. The company is formed to purchase and work Allsopp and party's claim, known as above, and situated in close proximity to the Grenfell Consols, the Lucknow, and Homeward Bound reefs.

Specimens of quartz from the Count Bismark G. M. Co., assayed at the Sydney Mint, yielded at the rate of 148 oz. 4 dwts. 16 grs. per ton.

Some excellent samples of stream and ruby tin have been brought to town from Bundarra by Mr. Hayes, a resident of that locality. A sample of the ore, tested by Mr. Norrie, yielded 77 per cent. From the same locality a straw-coloured diamond, of considerable lustre, was received to-day. It was found on the land adjoining the Jupiter Company's lease.

The yield of the Band and Albion mine to-day was 70 oz. 3 dwts.

Grenfell Consols Company.—The manager reports having received the following advice from the mining manager:—"September 16, 1872.—We started crushing at midday on Thursday on two prospects—one from the 200-feet level, between Nos. 5 and 6 shafts; the other from the bottom of No. 8 shaft. I kept the battery going on this stone until 12 o'clock on Saturday night. The prospect of 30 tons from the 200-feet level has gone half an ounce per ton—this will pay a good profit. The reef is 4 ft. 6 in. wide, and there are thousands of tons of stone easy to break down. The prospect of 12 tons from bottom of No 8 shaft yielded 11 dwts. per ton; the lode is about 2 feet wide, and will improve as we go down; there was great improvement in the last 6 feet sunk."

Omadale G. M. Co.—The local manager reports as follows:—"By the last advice received from the claim the tunnel was driven in a distance of 109 feet; shaft down 66 feet. The manager has succeeded in letting a contract for driving 50 feet in the tunnel, at a reasonable rate, and has been instructed to sink the shaft by contract work. It is intended to put down on to raise stone from Nos. 2 and 3 shafts." One of the directors, who has just returned from the claim, brought several pounds weight of stone to be tested. The stone, which was not expected to go over 2 oz., yielded at the rate of 23 oz. 4 dwts. 6 grs. to the ton."

Northern Cow Flat Copper Co.—The mining captain (late of the Currawang Copper Mine,) gives the following report:—"To-day I visited the Northern Cow Flat Company's ground. The lode of ore recently discovered is 6 feet wide, composed of rich black ore and mundic,—the ore is worth 30 per cent. The men are engaged driving on the course of the lode into the hill; as they go on the lode widens, and increases in value. I have every reason to believe that the Company's mine will prove a most valuable property,—you have all the Cow Flat lodes running through the two hundred and twenty acres."

Cope Hardinge Tin Co.—The manager reports:—"This Company is now in active operation, under the superintendence of Mr. J. M. Hunt, a certificated engineer of the Royal School of Mines. Two of Hunt's patent separators are already on the ground, a 12-horse power portable engine in transit, which will be immediately followed by two separators of the largest size, and by powerful pumping gear. Mr. Hunt reports that the prospects of the mine far exceed his anticipations, and that, on completion of the dam now in course of erection, an ample and never-failing supply of water will be obtained."

Denison G. M. Co.—The manager reports:—"We have the following telegram from the mining manager:—'Struck first-class stone in long tunnel seven hundred feet in, five hundred feet from surface. Reef over two feet, showing gold thickly.'"

St. Mary's G. M. Co.—The manager reports that the men employed in excavating and forming the new road from Hill End to the Turon, when on the eastern boundary of St. Mary's claim, dug out stone in which gold could be plainly seen, and that in consequence all the available ground near the spot was at once pegged out. The directors have determined to open up the claim without delay, and when this is done it will afford a very fair test of the East Hawkins Hill.

Dalmorton G. M. Co.—The mining manager reports that the vein is looking well. Gold to be seen on every bench knocked down.

Boorak Consols Q. M. Co.—The mining manager reports:—"I opened out a drive south from No. 1 shaft, at a depth of 44 feet from surface. At this depth the lode in the shaft is showing the underlie to be about 7 feet in 28. The lode at the present level is about 3 feet 6 in.—besides this. Gold can be seen freely in the stone. The ground is a little softer requiring no powder. In consequence of the engine-lifter having injured his leg, I have been obliged to send B. R. Longbottom to Lawrence to forward balance of machinery as soon as possible. The building in of boiler will be completed on Tuesday next (17th instant). The whole of the framing for quartz hopper, and about 70 feet of tramway, have been fixed; also poppet heads for surface pump. All steam pipes, feed pipes, and mountings on boiler, have been fitted and fixed in their places."

Peabody Copper Co.: The mining captain reports, under date of 14th instant:—"I have to inform you that we have just struck ore in the trial shaft west of No. 1. The ore is of the same character as we find in the other workings. I shall be able to report more fully on this discovery in my next." Great Australian G. M. Co.: The mining manager reports, under date of 16th instant:—"I should like the shaft on the Big Bear sunk to the 100 feet. It can be done for the same price as last, and the ground will be better for opening the reef. At the present depth (80 feet) the ground is rotten, and would require timber, therefore it is the cheapest to carry the shaft down into the solid ground. As soon as this is done I can commence raising quartz, and open this line of reef. As soon as Steel's contract in the Garibaldi Reef is finished, I will commence getting stone for crushing. We shall then have the two reefs in full work." Rex Tin Mining Co.: The mining manager reports:—"I have fourteen men employed. Since the commencement of the work by the company the work has been almost entirely of a preliminary nature. Opening new flood races for the purpose of turning the water both from an important part of the main creek, and from a rich gully running through the company's ground, and upon the richness of this land, of which I am now perfectly satisfied, a great deal depends. Work is still carried on in one of the lodes, which has now been driven about 15 feet where the reef commences a western underlay, and the appearance of the lode at this depth is, in my opinion, encouraging. The shaft is being well formed, and at the top is well logged, and a windlass has been fixed. From the amount of ground now nearly prepared for opening, I think that we will be enabled to raise an enormous amount of wash dirt at a comparatively trifling expense. I regret to still be unable to obtain carriers for tin ready for consignment."

Monitor G. M. Co.—The shaft is now timbered and contred, and sinking has again been started; the rock has become more favourable.

Golden Treasure G. M. Co.—Active operations have been carried on during the past fortnight. The main shaft is progressing well, and a seventy foot ladder will be ready for it in a few days. There is another likely looking vein that crosses the ridge in a lateral direction, and the manager suggests the sinking of a trial shaft of about forty feet, which would test the north-east portion of the company's property. Arrangements are now being made to have the stone which is at grass crushed.

New Eureka Co.—A general meeting of the shareholders was held yesterday. The draft deed of settlement was submitted and adopted.

Alfred Tennyson Co.—The shaft is now down 58 feet, and although the vein has not gone down as it opened out, it now looks much better, being but little broken, and showing gold in almost every piece broken down, the casing being of slate.

TO THE AUSTRALIAN WOOL PRODUCERS.
GENTLEMEN,—I beg permission to inform you that I have returned from San Francisco with largely extended powers on behalf of Messrs. J. C. MERRILL and CO., of that city, and am ready to afford every information and facility for the greater development of the WOOL TRADE between the respective continents.
The immense advantage in price and prompt returns, which the American market offers as compared to the Mouse trade, have been realised upon a few experimental shipments made last year under my selection, and to these I have permission to refer. The peculiarities of the requirements of the woollen houses in the States have but to be met by proper selection here, and a large profit is inevitable.
I am authorised to purchase an interest and make liberal advances upon consignments of greasy wools, and it will afford me much pleasure to at once open up correspondence with any growers desirous of testing the American market with a portion or the whole of their clip.
I remain, Gentlemen, yours faithfully,
HARRY A. GILLIAT.

SYDNEY RAGGED SCHOOLS.
ESTABLISHED 12 YEARS.
THE COMMITTEE OF THE SYDNEY RAGGED SCHOOLS, being compelled to deliver up the premises in Sussex-street, now occupied as a school, and having been unable to procure suitable accommodation, have secured a piece of land in the immediate vicinity of the present school, and intend to build at once a commodious School-room, tenders for which have been accepted, and they now earnestly and confidently appeal to the public for £350 to enable them to complete the building without trenching in any way upon the limited resources of the Institution.
Hundreds of children have passed through these schools, and many are now occupying useful positions in society, who would in all probability—had not these schools been available—have grown up in utter ignorance and vice.

The Lord Chancellor in his judgment said that the capsules are not used merely for the purposes of the ornament, but that they are serviceable in protecting the wine from injury, and insuring its genuineness.

THE following is an extract from a letter dated 15th May, 1873, from an old inhabitant of Hovingsham, near Warminster, Wilts:—"I must also beg to say that your Pills are an excellent medicine for me, and I certainly do enjoy good health, sound sleep, and a good appetite; this is owing to taking your Pills. I am 72 years old. Remaining, Gentlemen, yours very respectfully, L. S. To the Proprietors of NORTON'S CAMOMILE PILLS, London."

FRENCH MEDICINES,
prepared by
GRIMAULT and CO.,
Pharmaceutical Chemists,
8, Rue Vivienne,
PARIS.
LERAS' LIQUID PHOSPHATE OF IRON.
It contains the constitutive elements of the bones and of the blood, and is the most rational of all chalybeates. It may be prescribed for all the most delicate young females, whose development has been retarded; for women suffering from stomach complaints, anæmia; for pale and sickly children, deprived of appetite; and, as its principal action is to restore to impoverished blood the iron in which it is deficient, and to the bones the phosphate that forms their base, it is recommended for debilitated persons, whether their debility proceeds from disease or any other cause. Its use is always attended with surprising results.
GRIMAULT and CO.'S
SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME.
An excellent remedy for all affections of the chest; it relieves coughs, effectually prevents nocturnal perspiration, and restores the patient's strength. This syrup is the only one which, ever since 1857, has invariably been attended with satisfactory results, a fact due to the purity of the hypophosphite employed. Be sure to observe that it bears the signature "GRIMAULT and CO."
The effect of the Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime is increased by the Pectoral Lozenges of Lactucarium and Cherry Laurel, prepared by Grimault and Co.
The delicious comfit, containing the most soothing substances of all the Materia Medica, is employed with success against coughs, influenza, bronchitis, hooping cough, &c.
GRIMAULT and CO.'S
IODIZED SYRUP OF HORSE-RADISH.
Considered the best substitute for Cod Liver Oil. It has been ascertained by experiments made in the principal hospitals of Paris, that this syrup has always produced results superior to those obtained from the above-mentioned oil, which patients find so disagreeable to take.
Not a single instance can be adduced in which pale, lymphatic children, subject to swelling of the glands, to eruption of the skin, of the head, or of the face, or other inconveniences of a weak constitution, who have taken this syrup without deriving signal benefit from its use.
GRIMAULT and CO.'S
PEPSINE DIGESTIVE POWDERS, ELIXIR, and WINE.
Pepsine is one of the most recent scientific discoveries in therapeutics. Acting chiefly on the organs of digestion, it possesses the property of digestion by its own innate virtues. It removes all the inconveniences of the difficult digestion, and even prevents nausea.
The researches on Pepsine made at the College of France by Dr. Leconte, in conjunction with Professor Claude Bernard, must secure the preference for our preparations of Pepsine.
ASTHMA. ASTHMA.
GRIMAULT and CO.'S
INDIAN CIGARETTES OF CANNABIS INDICA.
All the means hitherto employed to relieve Asthma have been only palliatives in varied forms based on belladonna, stramonium, nicotians, or opium. Recent experiments made in the Paris hospitals have proved that our Cigarettes, made of the extract of Indian Hemp, possess remarkable virtues against this complaint, as well as against nervous coughs, chronic laryngitis, hoarseness, loss of voice, facial neuralgia, and insomnia.
GRIMAULT and CO.'S GUARANA.
A single powder of this vegetable production is sufficient to cure instantly the most violent sick headache. It is the most valuable remedy against diarrhœa, dysentery, and all disorders proceeding from derangement of the stomach or bowels. This powder is indispensable for all families, and far more efficacious than opium and sub-nitrate of bismuth.
INTERNAL OR LOCAL NEW CURATIVE AGENT, GRIMAULT and CO.'S MATICO.
This new remedy is prepared from the leaves of a Peruvian Pepper Shrub called Matico, and cures promptly and infallibly, without any fear of inflammatory results.
The great majority of physicians in Paris—especially Dr. Ricord—Russia, Germany, and New York, no use no other remedy.
Full directions accompany each bottle and packet.

PRAMPTON'S PILL OF HEALTH.
They unite the recommendation of a mild operation with the most successful effect; and where an aperient is required nothing can be better adapted.
Her Majesty's Commissioners have authorised the name and address of "THOMAS PROUT, No. 229, Strand, London," to be impressed upon the Government stamp affixed to each box of the genuine medicine.
Sold in England at 1s 1½d and 2s 9d per box, or obtained through any Chemist, &c., throughout the Australian Colonies.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. PAGE WOOD stated publicly in Court that Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to.—TIMES, July 13, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl RUSSELL communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was Chlorodyne.—See LANCET, December 31, 1864.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course, it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—MEDICAL TIMES, January 13, 1866.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in coughs, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.
Dr. J. Collis' Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure in cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colics, &c.
Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution.—None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. Davenport, 33, Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London. DARLING POINT.

That delightfully situated Family Residence,
DARLING HEIGHT,
together with TWO ACRES OF HIGHLY IMPROVED GROUNDS, the CHOICEST SITE ON THE POINT, between "LINDSAY" and "CARTHONA," and having extensive frontage to the Darling Point Road.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from D. Bulman, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 23rd SEPTEMBER, at 11 o'clock,
DARLING HEIGHT and GROUNDS,
DARLING POINT.
THE RESIDENCE is built of brick and stone, and has a slated roof. The accommodation comprises spacious drawing and dining rooms, library, a breakfast room, 6 bedrooms, one of which is very large, bathroom, kitchen, pantry, store, &c. The elevation is of the modern villa style, irregular and attractive, with wide verandahs back and front. The out-buildings consist of stables, coach-house, harness and groom's room, laundry with copper, &c. A never-failing supply of water is secured by a large underground tank.
THE GROUNDS comprise an area of TWO ACRES of FREEHOLD LAND, which at considerable cost and with great taste has been terraced, planted, and arranged into lawns, parterres of flowers and exuberant shrubberies, interspersed with fine mature ornamental trees. The views from the grounds are unsurpassed for extent and beauty, Darling Height being acknowledged one of the CHOICEST SITES ON THE POINT.

☞ Beautiful as are all the headlands of the harbour, yet Darling Point, first selected for division and suburban occupation, has always held its position in regard to value and the magnificent scenery it commands. In proof of this it is only necessary to notice the many charming family homesteads which occupy the promontory, each having its distinct character, its peculiar aspect, and diversity of arrangement, the whole producing a striking picturesque effect. Not the least among these choice properties, especially in respect to position and aspect, stands "Darling Height," which for prominence and the extent of scenery it commands is second only to Mount Adelaide. It is in the market for ABSOLUTE SALE, and the opportunity (which so rarely occurs) for purchasing a freehold in this locality will commend it to the attention of many now seeking a superior suburban residence.
Cards to view may be obtained on application at the Rooms, where plan can be inspected.

HILL and CLISSOLD'S
WELL-KNOWN WOOLWASHING WORKS, CANTERBURY,
for Positive Sale, to close
PARTNERSHIP ACCOUNTS.
Terms liberal.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Messrs. HILL and CLISSOLD—in consequence of the retirement of the firm from woolwashing and fellmongering—to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on MONDAY, the 7th OCTOBER next,
The above valuable property.

These extensive and complete woolwashing and fellmongering premises are situated on the south side of Cook's River, opposite the old Sugar Works, and embrace about 20 acres of land, adjoining the Dam, which is now in substantial order. The works are erected high above flood level, and comprise—Engine-house, containing a highly-finished 25-horse power engine, by Chapman, with large tubular boiler equal to 40-horse power.
There is also a small boiler in connection with the engine, to economise fuel in firing the large boiler. Centrifugal pump, 3 feet diameter, capable of throwing 20 tons of water per minute. The supply of water is inexhaustible.
Adjoining the engine-house is the sorting room, capable of working 16 sorters, while underneath is the washing place, fitted with all appliances for 17 washers, the soaking tubs being supplied with steam heating power.
These buildings are substantially built of brick and stone, and are all in first-rate order.
The packing and bin room is conveniently placed, and is fitted with first-rate press. Adjoining it are the receiving stores, capable of holding 2000 bales of wool under cover.
The drying ground adjoins the packing-room, and is between 3 and 4 acres in extent, all well grassed, and admitted to be the quickest drying ground about Sydney.
The works, in full swing, are capable of washing 200 bales of greasy wool per week, and in unexceptionable weather they have turned out even a larger quantity.
The property is only seven miles from the Wool Stores, Circular Quay, by a good road all the way, and is about 1½ mile from the Ashfield Railway Station, also by a good road.

Wool sheets, drays, horses, harness, wood, and coal to be taken at a valuation by arbitration.

As an investment for capital in one of the most profitable businesses around Sydney, the sale of the above premises offers an unusually favourable opportunity, as they are brought into the market at the very opening of a season which promises more greasy wool for washing than the average quantity of past years. One other great advantage may also be commented on: The works from first to last are now in perfect order, and are ready to be put to work at six hours' notice without the further outlay of a single shilling.
Further particulars of this important property may be obtained at the auctioneers', where cards to inspect may also be obtained—it being the express instructions of the proprietors, who are retiring from these works with a fortune, that every facility should be afforded intending purchasers to thoroughly examine the whole property.
